COUNTY BOARD ASKS DELAY ON OCCUPATIONAL LEVY CUTOFF

The Adams County Board of School Directors at its March meeting Monday evening voted unanimously to ask the county commissioners to postpone for a year their announced plans to discontinue the occupational assessments which most school districts use as the basis for an occupation tax for school purposes.

The letter to the commissioners will point out that the school district reorganization, scheduled by state law for July 1, 1966, would be greatly complicated if a new tax structure should have to be developed in connection with that reorganization.

Members of the county school board pointed out that districts currently levying occupation taxes likely will continue to do so in the budgets coming up this spring for the 1965-66 school year. Letters from the commissioners' office have indicated that will be the last year the county will provide occupational assessments for the school districts.

REVISE FORMER PLAN

A one-year extension by the county commissioners would "greatly facilitate" the already-complicated task of school reorganization, school board members pointed out.

In another major action, the county board Monday evening voted unanimously to submit to the state Board of Vocational Education a revised plan for designation of all of Adams County as an attendance area for a technical school.

Several months ago the County Board sent a similar request to Harrisburg and it was returned for reconsideration because some state records showed Fairfield had previously been assigned on a state plan to Franklin County for technical school purposes. A letter read to the County Board Monday evening from the state gave notice that Fairfield now has been released for inclusion in the Adams County plan.

MARKETING AGREEMENT IS ARGUED

Approximately 65 cherry growers from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia Monday heard the pros and cons of a proposed marketing agreement and order designed to stabilize the price paid to growers in years of bumper crops.

Representatives of the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Marketing, with Will Roger, examiner, heard testimony of growers and processors at a hearing in the West Street Bank.

APPEARING AT THE MORNING SESSION

Appearing at the morning session were John B. Peters, Gardner, who read and explained the various sections of the proposed agreement; Thomas O. Oyler, Biglerville R. 1, grower, and Richard Trostel, a director of Great Lakes Cherry Producers Association. Proponents of the order maintain that the proposal could eliminate depressed prices to growers in years of bumper harvests by setting aside a portion of the processed crop for later marketing.

OPPOSE PROPOSAL

Opposing the proposal were Pet Milk Co., Musselman Division, National Canners Association and Zoro Packing Co., Winchester, Va. Sheldon Funk, Berks County grower, also testified in opposition.

Pet Milk maintained at the hearings that "based on existing economic and marketing conditions, we believe that a marketing agreement and order tends to keep the marginal grower in business and offers no solution at the present time in establishing a balance between supply and demand." The firm questioned the

Directors Called To Special Session

Directors on the 14-member Joint School committee of the Gettysburg Joint School Board received notices today of a "most important meeting" of the committee to be held in the conference room of the senior high school Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The notice continues: "The teacher-curriculum committee will have met earlier in the week and undoubtedly will have some recommendations to make. Other items that might properly come before the meeting may also be discussed."

The notices were sent by Douglas D. Houston, secretary and business manager.

WOMAN IS OVERCOME BY SMOKE

Mrs. James W. Muller, 246 E. Middle St., was overcome by smoke Monday night while attempting to battle a fire in a chair in a third-floor bedroom at her home.

Gettysburg firemen arrived to find Mrs. Muller attempting to extinguish the blaze. Moments later she became unconscious and was removed by firemen to their ambulance where oxygen was administered and she soon revived.

Firemen removed three small children from their beds in second-floor rooms of the home. Firemen said the children, asleep in a smoke-filled room, seemed none the worse for the smoke and believed that in their beds they were below the most of the smoke.

The blaze had spread from the chair to papers and had charred a wall when firemen arrived. They quickly extinguished the blaze and said damage was "slight."

Mrs. Muller told firemen that the third-floor bedroom was used by an elder daughter. It was believed that a cigarette may have fallen onto the chair and smoldered for a time before causing the blaze.

Hold Military Rites For Clarence Miller

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Bender Funeral Home for Clarence P. Miller, 84, formerly of Toronto, Canada, a retired shoe company treasurer, who died Thursday at the Pape Convalescent Home. The Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser officiated. The pallbearers were Robert DeHaven, Edward Basler, Timothy Farrell, Charles Weaver, Charles Mayhall and W. H. Ammer.

Military rites were conducted in Evergreen Cemetery. Members of the firing squad were Edward Kerrigan, William Orner and Max Sherman, VFW. The honor guard was comprised of Robert W. Fox, James Cole, Kenneth Cole and Robert E. Fox, Albert J. Lentz Post, American Legion. Steven Bream was bugler.

LICENSED TO WED

The following have secured marriage licenses in Westminster: Howard E. Dye Jr., New Oxford, and Ethel V. Gwinn, Hanover; Lester James C. Lynch and Nancy J. Weikert, Gettysburg.

MARCHERS FACE DANGEROUS SECTION OF HIGHWAY TODAY

By ROSS HAGEN
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — The civil rights march, trimmed now to 300 persons, moves on today over the most forbidding section of its terrain, a two-lane highway through swampy, rural Lowndes County.

Thousands of marchers left Selma Sunday, but the number was cut Monday at the end of a four-lane portion of well-traveled U.S. 80 as directed by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The number will increase for the final leg of the 50-mile trek into Montgomery, when the highway becomes four lanes again. By order of the judge, the marchers must reach the Capitol building by 4 p.m. Thursday.

ALMOST HALFWAY

The 300 marchers were almost to the halfway point when they bedded down under big tents in a pasture near Big Swamp of Lowndes County, a

MAY BE APPEAL FROM 1-UNIT SCHOOL PLAN, BOARD TOLD

The Adams County Board of School Directors was told Monday evening at its March meeting that "every effort will be made to enter a protest" to the school reorganization plan ordered for the county last week by the state Board of Education.

The message came from Thomas O. Oyler, member of the Franklin Twp. School Board, and was delivered by Mrs. Arthur E. Rice, a member of the Gettysburg Area School Board. She said she had been asked by Mr. Oyler to make that announcement.

The announcement came at the close of nearly an hour and a half of discussion between county school officials and a nine-member delegation from the Gettysburg schools. The group included three high school teachers and six school directors.

HEAR STATE ORDERS

The county board is under orders from the state to implement the state board's order to reorganize the schools of the county into a single district with the exception of Conewago Twp. and McSherrystown which have been assigned to Hanover under the state order.

Questions from members of the delegation were aimed at the state school plan for the county, how it will operate, why it was adopted and indicated the group was seeking guidance on how it might be appealed.

The delegation heard County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson read the official state board orders upholding appeals taken from the six-unit county plan adopted last May on a 3-2 vote in which the appeals were upheld with the exception of that of McSherrystown.

SUCCESS IN DOUBT

Supt. Coulson said that on the basis of consultation with Attorney Eugene Hartman, solicitor to the county board, he felt the county board could not take an appeal, if it wanted to, but such appeals would have to come from school districts.

"There might be a basis for an appeal but there might also be doubt about its validity or its success," he said.

He added later in the discussion that the only grounds on which an appeal could be taken would seem to be some "irregularity" on the part of the state board or an attack on the constitutionality of the school reorganization law.

"CAN'T HELP YOU"

Discussion indicated the authority of the state board may be challenged especially with regard to its power to move school districts across county lines without the assent of the county schools. Adams County never consented to the removal of McSherrystown and Conewago Twp. although that was the purpose of Conewago's appeal.

President Dean Asquith noted that any appeal would have to be taken in Dauphin County court and told the delegation: "The county board can't do anything for you. I don't like the decision and I'll join my district if it takes an appeal. I think there are many things below the surface in this case." He did not

ENSEMBLE TO GIVE CONCERT

The 50-piece Indiana State College wind ensemble will present a free public concert Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Biglerville High School auditorium under auspices of the Biglerville High School Band.

The Indiana band, on its two-day tour, will also present programs at Bermudian Springs, Boiling Springs and Carlisle on Thursday. Wednesday evening's public concert at Biglerville High School will mark the first time that the Indiana College band has performed in this area.

Biglerville students will host the band to an evening meal Wednesday at the Biglerville High School cafeteria and then the bandmen will be guests at the homes of the Biglerville students for the evening and next morning's breakfast.

Biglerville band officials said they were sponsoring the concert "as a token of appreciation to the public for its support of the band uniform project."

Two Parked Autos Are Robbed Here

Eugene Phiel, New Oxford R. 2, Monday reported to borough police that while his car was parked at the Warner Hospital parking lot someone removed from its glove compartment the 1964 owner's card in a leather case, a tire gauge, a first aid kit, a manicure set, binoculars, sun glasses, pliers, a screw driver set and case and a feeler gauge. The value of the articles was estimated at $40.

Kenneth Lerew, Biglerville, reported to borough police Monday night that between 7 and 8 o'clock that evening, while his car was parked near the Rea and Derick Store, two spinner hub caps were stolen from the auto.

JURY BOOSTS DAMAGE GRANT TO CARBAUGHS

An Adams County jury this morning awarded Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Carbaugh, Gettysburg R. 1, $35,000 as damages caused to their Cumberland Twp. property by the relocation of Route 15.

The jury, headed by Arthur R. Buehler, New Oxford, foreman, retired at 9:53 this morning to consider its verdict, and returned at 10:58. The jury award of $35,000 also provides that the Commonwealth pay interest on the amount from the time of the taking of the land in December, 1961.

The trial was on the appeal from the report of viewers in the eminent domain action of Harry E. and Mary E. Carbaugh, Gettysburg R. 1, against the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

EVIDENCE ON MONDAY

Appeal was taken from the report of the board of view after the court appointed board had set the damages at $21,750. The suit was one of a number that have been in the local court as a result of the relocation of the road.

All testimony in the case was submitted Monday. This morning the jury heard the charge by Judge W. C. Sheely, then retired to begin consideration of its verdict.

Mr. Carbaugh in his testimony said damages to his property totaled $42,000. He estimated the value of his 219-acre farm along the Taneytown Rd. in Cumberland Twp. at $95,000 before part of his land was taken for the new Rt. 15 and its value afterward at $53,000. Mrs. Carbaugh agreed to the figures.

LOST FRONTAGE

The state took 13 acres from the Carbaughs land, including the Carbaugh's 10-room house and cut about 13 acres off from the rest of the farm. In addition, the work of raising the Taneytown Rd. to bridge over the new Rt. 15 placed the barn below the level of the road and drains from the new road construction flowed into the barnyard. Carbaugh said he could not reach parts of the barn from outside because of the "hole" in which it was placed, and had to back machinery into

INJURED IN FALL

Raymond A. Hahn, 52, Emmitsburg R. 1, was treated Sunday at the Waynesboro Hospital for a contusion of the right shoulder suffered in a fall.

MISS JACKSON CHOSEN BY AFS TO GO ABROAD

Miss Sally Jackson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, Gettysburg R. 3, has been selected by the national American Field Service as the finalist from the Gettysburg chapter to be given first consideration for placement abroad next summer.

That announcement was made at a meeting of the local AFS committee Monday evening at the senior high school building. Mrs. Harry Biesecker, committee chairman, presided.

Mrs. Robert Codori, social chairman, advanced plans for the International Day to be held at the high school Thursday, April 21. Twenty-nine AFS foreign students from surrounding areas have been invited with their chaperones. Lunch will be provided at the high school. Following that, the foreign students will entertain at a high school assembly at 1:30 p.m. and a junior high school assembly at 2:30.

EXPECT 100 AT DINNER

Both of these assemblies will be open to the community. In the late afternoon, the students will be taken on a bus tour of the Battlefield and then to the Holiday Motel where the local committee will provide a covered dish supper. Entertainment by Gettysburg High School students will end the day.

The C. H. Musselman Co. will donate appetizers for the dinner. It is expected that over 100 people will attend the dinner, in-

JUNE 9 SET FOR OPENING PLAYGROUNDS

Gettysburg's playground season will open June 9 and close August 20, the local Recreation Board decided at its meeting Monday night in its office in the junior high school building.

Last month the board had appointed Howard Shoemaker as playground supervisor for the summer, and Monday night additional members of the summer staff were chosen. At the conclusion of Monday's meeting there were still several positions to be filled, with the board expected to act on those appointments next month. Several candidates for the posts have not yet been interviewed by Recreation Director Ray Thompson and the board decided that "in all fairness" every applicant should be interviewed before the playground staff is completed.

Among the staff members named Monday were Gareth Biser as "night supervisor" to have general charge of evening programs; Robert Zeigler, music director; Don Bickel and Don Young, baseball directors; Merrill Eckhart and Earl Little, basketball directors; Kathleen Trostel, girls' softball director.

OTHERS CHOSEN

Named to serve at the tot lots were, Recreation Park, Elsa Heimerer and Paula Lupp; Eisenhower, Cynthia Rosenberger.

Named as playground staff were, Eisenhower, John Maloney, Ila Bowers and Terry Fox; Kee-fauver, Patrick Kelly, Jane Elizabeth Roth and Merrill Eckhart; Recreation Park, Richard Allison, Ray Reider, Esther Sanders and Don Young.

Those selected for two positions will work part-time at each, and in addition some members of the staff will work only half days. Recreation Director Thompson said the cost for the summer help will be $12,902, if the playgrounds operate each day scheduled. Of that amount about one half will be paid by the state and half will be paid by the borough.

DISCUSS LIGHTS

Astronauts Guide 165-Ton Projectile Into Varied Maneuvers For First Time In History; Flight Running Smoothly

By HOWARD BENEDICT CAPE KENNEDY, Fla.

(AP) — Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young guided their spaceship Molly Brown into a new orbital path today and scored a big first in the space race.

The mission control center at Cape Kennedy called the successful maneuver, executed high over Texas during the first of three planned orbits, a "historic" one.

Grissom, 38, an Air Force major and the first man to rocket twice into space, operated the jets that put the capsule into a nearly circular orbit ranging from 97 to 105 miles high.

A Titan 2 rocket had originally launched the craft, officially called Gemini 3, into an orbit with a high point of 140 miles and a low of 100 miles.

Ability to maneuver a spacecraft is essential before space rendezvous — and flight onward to the moon — can be accomplished.

LIKE TEST PILOTS

Like test pilots taking a high-powered aircraft through a trial run, Grissom and Young gave their craft a thorough shake-down in a rehearsal for longer flights and eventual rendezvous missions. A series of 10 Gemini flights will be followed by the Apollo moon program.

The Molly Brown was named by the astronauts after the musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," — an allusion to Grissom's first spaceship, which sank in the Atlantic after return from a suborbital flight.

While President Johnson and millions more watched on television, the Titan thundered into the skies at 9:24 a.m.

GET GREEN LIGHT

Before the first orbit was completed, the mission control center gave the green light for a second go-round and the astronauts accepted the message with pleasure. Midway through the second orbit, they were given the okay for a third.

This would bring them down as planned to a parachute landing in the Atlantic 70 miles northeast of Grand Turk Island, where recovery ships and planes awaited them.

The drop in orbital altitude was not a sudden thing. As the thruster jets fired for 77 seconds, the spacecraft moved gradually into its new path as it sailed over Georgia at about 17,400 miles an hour.

NEW MANEUVER

Midway through the second orbit Grissom conducted another space craft maneuver which will be important to future rendezvous flights. He twisted the capsule around 90 degrees so it was flying sideways and pointing south.

Then he fired his forward jets for 15 seconds to shoot the craft onto an orbital path about one and a half miles south of the original course. Then he quickly turned the space craft around 180 degrees and executed a number of rapid jet firings to simulate action which might have to be taken as a spacecraft approaches a target satellite on a rendezvous mission.

RELAY DATA

In another space first, the U.S. Syncom 2 communications satellite was used to relay information from the Molly Brown to the ground tracking network while the spacecraft flew above the Indian Ocean on the second orbit. Syncom 2, which had been used as a backup relay during the early portions of the flight, became a main relay point when a tracking station in Australia was cut off briefly from communications.

Only three minor problems developed in this first flight by a steerable spacecraft. Two involved a secondary electronic system associated with a thruster jet and a slight pressure drop in a fuel system. Both problems corrected themselves in a short time.

PRESSURE CUFF

The other involved the blood pressure cuff on Grissom's arm which he said he was unable to operate.

Grissom and Young, a 24-year-old Navy lieutenant commander, are scheduled to return to Earth today.

CLUB TO MEET

The Cashtown 4-H Club will reorganize Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Stanley Rebert. All former members and girls over 10 years of age are urged to attend.

Polio Authority Will Speak Here

The public is invited to attend the talk this evening at 8 o'clock in Weidensall Hall on the Gettysburg College Campus by Dr. David Bodian, professor of anatomy at Johns Hopkins, who will speak on "The Brain and Polio — A Biological Detective Story." Dr. Bodian, who has won many awards for his work in infantile paralysis is listed in the "Polio Hall of Fame" at the Warm Springs, Ga. Foundation honoring men and women outstanding in that field.

PARK WILL BE GREAT ASSET IN THE FUTURE

The natural beauty of the Gettysburg Battlefield will mean more to this community in 50 years than it does today, Gettysburg National Park Superintendent Kittridge Wing told members of the local Lions Club Monday evening in an after dinner talk at the Varsity Diner.

"The Battlefield forms a buffer zone to hold off urbanization. Gettysburg is fortunate to have this green belt buffer area around it. Besides its natural beauty, it offers a place for many types of outdoor recreation and that asset will become more appreciated in years to come," the park superintendent said.

He noted that one of the most important facts about the battlefield is that it brings two million visitors to the community each year. "Gettysburg is a town of distinction and is favorably known around the world. The battlefield and its memory will never dim," he predicted and contrasted Gettysburg with Braddock, Pa., a town with a battlefield that was not preserved and developed and has now disappeared in the spread of modern community development.

CD DIRECTOR OF COUNTY TO JOIN "SIT IN"

Fourteen persons from York County, including two residents of Gettysburg, have volunteered to spend 36 continuous hours in a fallout shelter area living on water, crackers and a few pieces of candy and sharing the large area with about 75 or 80 other persons.

The shelter living is the third phase of a civil defense course started this week by two specialists in CD training from Pennsylvania State University.

The project as explained by York CD Director Jack Gray will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 2, when the volunteers, also from Lebanon, Lancaster, Chambersburg, Carlisle and Harrisburg areas, will begin the 36-hour sit-out in the basement of the Harrisburg YWCA.

VIET CONG AGAIN ESCAPES AERIAL ATTACK ON AIR BASE; BLAME DELAY FOR TIP-OFFS

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jets and Vietnamese planes pounded a Viet Cong area near the strategic Da Nang air base Monday. Once again the Communists escaped.

Some officers complained that they can't get air strikes quickly enough after concentrations of the Communists are discovered.

Some military sources involved in the massive but futile strike complained of "over control" from Saigon, particularly on the use of U.S. jets. These sources feel this led to delay and may have opened the way for a security leak which warned the enemy.

FIND BLOOD TRAILS

Several blood trails were found in the area where the jets and propeller-driven Skyraiders struck. One suspected Viet Cong was captured without a weapon on the outer fringe of the operational area.

The Vietnamese military, under heavy pressure from Saigon to come up with a favorable report, announced that an estimated 50 Communists had been killed. No bodies were found.

Planning for the attack, 10 miles south of Da Nang, began Friday after intelligence reports that 1,200 Viet Cong were in a combined regimental headquarters and training camp in two adjacent valleys near Dong Nghe.

ADMIT INFILTRATIONS

Top Vietnamese authorities have conceded that the Viet Cong have infiltrated all levels of Vietnamese life, including the military. This has been given as one reason for the frequent failure of major operations.

Adding to the failure was the discovery that a major Viet

STUDENT SAYS SPANISH LIKE FRANCO REGIME

Francisco Franco and Finnish suanas were both described as "good" in talks to the Rotary Club Monday evening in the YWCA.

Speakers at the meeting were the two Foreign Exchange Students from Gettysburg High School, Jose Barrona, of Valencia, Spain, and Marina Repo, of Helsinki, Finland.

Barrona in speaking of the peoples, customs, industry and government of Spain told the group "For you who love democracy and free government it is hard to understand Franco's government. We Spanish people are practical. We tried a republic twice and it would not work for us, so we do not want it. We feel Franco is the best thing that has happened to Spain. Since 1939 the growth of Spain has been terrific. We do not have so high a standard of living as the United States, but we have advanced greatly and the majority of people in Spain feel that Franco is a good man. But the government is not Franco alone. We have a parliament of 500 elected by the people and 100 by Franco. He has some of the facets of a dictator. He has been 30 years in power, but he is not a dictator in the sense many think."

LIFE IN FINLAND

Miss Repo in her review of life in Finland held the suana is the thing she misses most. Describing the Finn's custom of taking baths "at 230 degrees" and then plunging into cold water or snow, termed the suana, she said, "They are not a necessity but a luxury. For cleanliness Finns take baths in their tub at home, just as you do. But for relaxation the suana bath is really wonderful. I think they help ward off disease. This winter everybody around here had a cold, but I did not catch one."

Finland is "30 percent woodland, mostly evergreens," and so "it was fascinating to be in Pennsylvania last fall to see trees change to beautiful colors."

Miss Repo said, "Finland is beautiful, a land about the size of Pennsylvania with many lakes. More than 10 percent of the country is water." Winters are cold "but they don't feel as cold as Pennsylvania winters, even though the temperature is far lower." Winter is "mostly night," with the day reducing to three hours in the southern part of Finland and "nothing at all" in the north. With the snow and the night "skiing is the national sport. Children learn to ski when they learn to walk." Conversely, "The summer days are long. In the north the sun never sets. And so swimming is the second great sport."

President C. William Harbaugh presided at the meeting. Dr. Harold Dunkelberger and Dr. Kenneth Smoke led group singing. Dr. Carroll Voss introduced Miss N. Louise Ramer, guidance counselor at the local high school, who heads the American Field Service exchange student program in Gettysburg. Shelby Roberts introduced Barrona.

REPORT MINOR MISHAPS HERE

Clarence Waybright, Gettysburg R. 2, reported to borough police this morning at 9:40 that while he was absent from his Mason Dixon Dairy truck on E. Middle St. making a delivery, the truck drifted back and struck the left front fender of a parked car owned by Russell Deaneer, Gettysburg R. 5, causing $10 damage to the car.

Jane Brashears, rear of 99 Steinwhere Ave., reported Monday afternoon to borough police that on Sunday morning while making a turn at Holiday Inn on Baltimore St. her car was in a slight accident with an auto operated by Bernard Rehmeier, 740 Highland Ave.

George Steinberger reported to borough police this morning at 7:30 that a parking meter was lying along the Mummansburg Rd. Police found it was one that had been removed from the second block of Baltimore St. The meter was undamaged.

It was incorrectly reported that the car of Joan Gastley, Gettysburg R. 5, struck an auto backing out of a parking space on Lincoln Square Saturday. Instead the car of Regina G. McIntire, 316 York St., backing out from a parked position on the square struck the front door and side of the Gastley auto.

French Give Medal To Soviet Envoy

PARIS (AP) — French society has given a gold medal to retiring Soviet Ambassador Sergei A. Vinogradov and a description of "the most Parisian of all ambassadors."

Vinogradov, dean of the Paris diplomatic corps, received the medal Monday from the French Committee of Good Taste, an organization of French society figures.

SORORITY ELECTIONS

MRS. T. MCCARTHY

Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, Gettysburg R. 6, was elected president of the Xi Alpha Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Monday evening at a meeting in the home of Miss Helen Spangler, Gettysburg.

Mrs. McCarthy has been a member of Beta Sigma Phi for 13 years and has served the chapter previously as treasurer and as vice-president.

Other officers elected Monday were Mrs. John Hann, vice-president; Mrs. C. Showers, secretary and Mrs. Selmar Hess, treasurer.

INVITED TO BALL

Mrs. Eugene Pyles, the president, presided at the meeting and welcomed Mrs. Raymond Wetzel Jr., Miss Joanne Snyder and Miss Betty Lou Kuykendall, guests from Epsilon Delta chapter who will be eligible for the Exemplar degree in May.

The Hanover City Council of Beta Sigma Phi invited the local chapter to attend a Cinderella Ball on April 23.

Members voted for the "Girl of the Year." The results of the election will be announced on Exemplar Day, May 10. Social Chairman Mrs. D. C. Ober reported 10 couples attended a covered dish supper at her home Saturday evening. Decorations and food were based on an international theme.

Mrs. Harold Fair introduced the speaker for Monday's session, Marc Starkins, owner of the Art Center, Lincoln Square, who spoke on "Enjoyment of Art," illustrating his talk with paintings and lithographs.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Miss Spangler and Mrs. McCarthy. Games were played with prizes won by Miss Snyder and Mrs. Richard Baldwin. The next meeting will be held April 12 at the Dutch Cupboard.

Mrs. John Schwartz, Littlestown R. 1, will entertain the Mt. Joy Homemakers Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Helen D. Tunison, extension home economist, will present the topic "Family Goals."

The VFW Auxiliary meeting cancelled last week will be held April 7. Membership banquet tickets may be secured from Ruth M. Miller.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neal, R. 3, were Miss Jane Bowling, Lemoyne; Ray Neal and Ewing Bowling, Middletown, O., and James Bowling, Charleston, N.C.

The Loyal Workers Class of St. John's Sunday School, McKnightstown, will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Deckert.

Rev. Gerhard Kleassen and Robert Newman will present dialogue preaching at the Fairfield community Lenten service to be held at the United Church of Christ, Fairfield, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Paula Callahan was given a farewell party Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Walter, Bonneville, by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Walter. Mrs. Callahan will leave Sunday from Dulles Airport for Stuttgart, Germany, to join her husband, Pfc. Daniel P. Callahan, who is stationed there with the U.S. Army. He enlisted after graduating from Gettysburg High School in 1963 and has been in Germany for the past eight months. Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cullison, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hankey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Small and family, Mrs. Nora Hankey, Mrs. Merle Hankey and family, William Reaver, Miss Viola May, Mrs. Fred Martin, Mrs. Helen Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walter, Ruth Ann and Howard Hankey, Mrs. Daniel E. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Callahan Jr., and daughter, Pat, Mrs. George Groff, Mrs. Gerry Settle, Mrs. LeDane Swope, all of Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bean and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bean Jr., and family, all of York; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shaner and family, Hanover; Mrs. George Welsh, Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neiderer and family, Misses Jane and Margaret Strasbaugh, Gerald Neiderer, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lemmon, Bonneville.

The Altar Guild of Trinity United Church of Christ will meet after Lenten service at the church Wednesday evening. Mrs. Charles W. Ogden and Mrs. Thomas McCarthy will be the hostesses.

Mrs. Martha M. Stoner, 38 E. Middle St., gave a reception Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the social room of the Fairfield Mennonite Church for her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Edwin Stoner, Bendersville, who were married in the church February 20. Approximately 75 guests attended, from Lampeter, Salunga, Lititz, Harrisburg, New Oxford and Gettysburg. Stoner is an inspector for the Federal State Inspectors Bureau. Mrs. Stoner, the former Miss Rosa Tilton, Bendersville, is a seasonal worker at Knouse Foods, Inc.

The Occident and Orient Study Group of AAUW will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Sue Ella Harper, Arendtsville. Miss Jean Thomas will speak on "Japanese Literature and Drama."

Mrs. Newell Carey, Mrs. Eugene Clapsaddle, Mrs. Thomas Hess, Mrs. Esther Martin and Robert Reynolds attended the short-term laboratory school at the Stewartstown Methodist Church last week.

The Baltimore Symphony will be the fourth concert of the Community Concert Association to be held in the High School Auditorium, West College Terrace, Frederick, Md., Thursday evening. Local members will be admitted at 8:15 p.m. on their membership cards.

JOSEPH LUTZ HAS RESIGNED POSITION HERE

Paul Pitzer, Biglerville R. 1, president of the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association, today announced that the resignation "with regret" of Joseph Lutz, 203 Ewell Ave., as an associate county agent in Adams County.

Lutz resigned from the post to accept a position in the Product Information Department of Pfister Associated Growers, Aurora, Ill. He will report in Aurora to begin his duties April 20. His wife and three children plan to move to Aurora after the children have completed their current school year.

Lutz, a native of New Castle and a 1962 graduate of Pennsylvania State University, entered Agricultural Extension service in that year as an assistant county agent in Franklin County. He resigned there to serve with the Cumberland Valley Cooperative Association in Shippensburg until September, 1962, when he became assistant county agent and later associate county agent in Adams County.

During his three years here he served in the area of livestock, poultry and 4-H and was instrumental in the establishment of the South Central Pennsylvania Swine Producers' Association.

With Pfister he will be engaged in preparing pictures and information on seed corn and seed sorghum produced by the concern, writing booklets, preparing film strips and recordings, etc., to be used in spreading information concerning the Pfister products.

the barn in order to get out again. He alleged that 2,100 feet of frontage of the farm along the Tanyetown Rd. "disappeared" as a result of the changes in the highway.

DENIAL ON STAND

Mr. and Mrs. Carbaugh said that John Horton, right of way agent for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, had offered them $45,000. This he "categorically" denied from the witness stand.

William A. Bigham, local real estate broker, appearing for the Commonwealth, said he estimated the value of the Carbaugh farm before the taking of land at $39,493, while its value afterward would be $20,293, he said, or a loss of $19,200.

B. A. Wagner, York real estate broker, appearing for the Commonwealth, said the Carbaugh property was worth $44,000 before the taking and $25,500 afterward, for a loss of $18,500.

The jury which heard the case included Mrs. Elizabeth Bream, 310 N. Stratton St.; Mr. Buehler; Harry Cluck, Gettysburg R. 3; Donald W. Feesser, 144 Lumber St., Littlestown; Lewis Fox, 50 Rita Marie Ave., Littlestown; Bernard Glass, Hampton; Paul B. Knox, McSherrystown; Paul W. Kuhn, Aspers; Bernard J. Livelsberger, Hanover R. 4; Ivan Rickrode, 82 Patrick St., Littlestown; Lois W. Smith, Gettysburg R. 1; Mildred E. Smith, Littlestown R. 2; Mary A. Stine, 9 Baltimore St. The list includes one alternate.

TAKE TESTIMONY

Additional testimony was taken Monday afternoon by the court in the appeal by Francis Light, formerly of Hanover, for a new trial in the murder charge against him. He was sentenced to the penitentiary in 1958 after a jury found him guilty of second degree murder in connection with the death of his wife from stab wounds. Light alleges his constitutional rights were denied him prior to the trial. Attorney Eugene R. Hartman, who represented Light by court appointment in the 1958 trial, was on the stand to give his version of events that occurred in connection with his representation of Light. Light had alleged that certain witnesses were not summoned to appear in his behalf. Attorney Hartman said that several of the witnesses Light wished to call were hearsay witnesses to events that had occurred long before the trial and that in his opinion their testimony would not have been allowed by the court. Hartman said other witnesses were character witnesses who refused to appear.

Hartman said that he had advised Light that it is best not to subpoena character witnesses who do not wish to appear. Hartman said he had met with Light following the trial and had discussed the possibility of an immediate appeal. He said he had told Light, however, that if a new trial were granted there was a possibility that the jury might find a first degree verdict instead of the lighter verdict that had been brought. Light, Hartman said, at the time was "happy" about the outcome of the case and no appeal was taken. Light testified he could not recall those conversations with the attorney, Attorney Edward B. Bullett

FIVE STUDENTS EARN LICENSES

A class of five student pilots at Doersom Airport set a perfect record Tuesday in passing their flight tests for private pilot licenses. Donald X. Sullivan, airport operator, announced today.

Four of the students are Air Force ROTC students at Gettysburg College. The fifth is a private student from Hanover.

Sullivan said the flight test was administered by Don Juul, FAA Flight Examiner, Harrisburg, who commended Maj. Dewey Taylor, commander of the College Ground School, on the high average the four AFROTC applicants achieved on their written tests. Sullivan said three more AFROTC students are scheduled to take their flight tests next week.

AFROTC students who received their licenses are Cadets David Brubaker, Paul Harrison Jr., Warren Vose and Donald Christy. Donald Hertz, Hanover, was the fifth trainee to successfully pass the test.

The men received their flight training under John Hall and John Fitz, airport instructors.

Burial will be Pipe Creek Cemetery, near New Windsor.

1,150 NAMES STRICKEN OFF

Approximately 1,150 names have been purged from the rolls of Adams County voters as a result of the notices sent out several weeks ago to those who failed to vote for the last two years. The estimate was made by commissioner's clerks who found few returns from the approximately 1,500 notices sent the non-voters.

At this morning's meeting of the commissioners, bills totaling $1,016.00 were approved. A part of the morning was spent in discussing his assessment with a York Springs area land owner. The land owner came to check his assessments after his school board had alleged that he had failed to pay taxes on one of his properties and was considering charging him three years back taxes. The records showed that the property in question was included in the overall assessment listed for the man's properties.

According to the records at the commissioner's office the man had been assessed too high for properties he had previously owned and those were lowered when he purchased a new property. The resulting total assessment came out to the same figure as the assessment had been previously for the other properties.

BEGIN SERIES OF DIALOGUES AT FAIRFIELD

A new venture in dialogue preaching will be explored during the Fairfield Lenten services to be held in St. John's United Church of Christ.

A community pastor and a layman will engage in dialogue with members of the congregation invited to participate by raising questions or making comments. The overall theme of the services is "The Cross in Modern Life" with discussion on "my response to what Christ did on the cross and what it means for me."

On Wednesday the Rev. Gerhard Klaassen, pastor of the Fairfield Mennonite Church, and Robert Newman of Zion Lutheran Church will center the dialogue on the disciples, James and John, and the response they made to Christ.

On March 31 the Rev. Robert N. Paden, pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ, and Howard Musselman of the Mennonite Church will discuss the response of Judas and on April 7 the Rev. M. R. Hamsher, interim pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, and William Dick Jr. of Mt. Hope EUB Church will discuss the response of Peter.

On Sunday evenings during this series guest preachers will speak. On Sunday, April 11, in the Mennonite Church the drama group of the host church will make an appropriate presentation.

MISS JACKSON

tations from President Johnson's address on national beauty and the importance of outdoor recreation areas and conservation of natural resources. Wing concluded by saying: "The people of Gettysburg have the distinction of being part-guardians of this national shrine which is an important portion of our national heritage."

Answering questions after his talk, Mr. Wing said the deer herd in the national park here probably numbers 300 to 400 and "it's too big." He added that studies are being made and there will probably be a program for trapping and shipping away some of the deer. He noted damage to crops of farms on the perimeter of the field as one reason for the move.

President S. M. Raffensperger presided at the meeting with more than 50 Lions and guests in attendance. Prof. Herman Stuepfle Jr. of the Seminary faculty was a guest and three Lions attended from Taneytown. David Bloser was named to represent the club in the county Mental Health Association. Meetings of the board of directors and several committees followed the club session.

tem at the softball field in Recreation Park. Local electrician Stanley Hull met with the board to go over the proposed plans which the board hopes to complete over a period of five years, holding that the expense of increasing the number of lights, installing new wiring, etc., would be too great to be borne in one year.

Hull agreed to inspect the present lights and wiring at the softball field and determine what needs be done and the order in which it might be done over a five-year period. He is to report back to the board on his findings. Recreation Director Thompson reported the Moose plan to entertain one group of recreation bowlers April 24. The Optimist Club will entertain another group when the season ends.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Reporting "The most successful winter season so far," Thompson said some of the winter programs ended last week, others will be ending this week and the final program will wind up in April.

Thompson reported plans to replace a fence between the dugouts and the back stop on the Big Little League field and said construction of a number of new picnic tables to be placed at the park this summer is nearly completed.

A schedule was presented for dates when the high school will use the Recreation Park for baseball practice.

BURY J. M. STAMBAUGH

Funeral services for Jacob M. Stambaugh, 81, Taneytown, who died Saturday in the Hanover Hospital, Hanover, were held Monday afternoon at the C. A. Fuss and Son Funeral Home, with his pastor, Rev. G.S. Girl Scout News

Cadet Troop 966 met Monday evening in the Presbyterian Church to make final arrangements for a weekend bus trip to Philadelphia and West Chester, where they will be overnight guests of the Cadette Troop led by Mrs. Donald Trone, formerly of Gettysburg. In Philadelphia they will visit the Aquarama, Adm. Dewey's Flagship, "The Olympia," Independence Hall, Elfreth Alley and other historical points. The troop will leave the church parking lot, E. High St., at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Members will contact their parents upon their return to Gettysburg Sunday afternoon. Accompanying the troop will be Mrs. Guy Crist, leader; Mrs. Richard Newsham, assistant leader, and Mrs. Paul Witt.

MARKETING

industry's ability to strengthen the market system, stimulate market expansion and promote efficiency and protect competition under such an order.

The firm specifically took exception to expenses and assessments authorized to the committee; the possibility of unrealistic research or promotion of marketing, distribution and consumption of cherries; and the fact that "July 1 is too late to be of value to production in many areas." It recommends that June 1-15 would be more realistic dates to regulate volume.

Pet Milk further objected to the section concerned with grades, which, it said, makes no provision for natural causes which could change the quality of the crop from day to day; the possibility of undesirable storage of "set aside" stocks; variations in yields in certain areas and variances in production costs of processors.

OPPOSE ORDER

The company further enumerated objections that included the disposition of set-asides, the additional expenses incurred by the handler for reports and records which would add to production costs, invasion of privacy by regulatory agencies for confidential information.

In conclusion Pet Milk said: "We . . . oppose the agreement and order because we do not believe in its present form and at this time it is in the best interests of the successful cherry grower."

In the event that the secretary of agriculture approves the application for the marketing order, it will be submitted to a referendum vote of cherry growers, and processors presumably this spring.

TO FILE BRIEFS

Federal legislation requires at least two-thirds of the growers voting and processors who handle 51 percent of the tonnage must approve the order in such a referendum.

The local meeting is the last of four scheduled in the major cherry producing areas of eastern U. S. Previous hearings were held in Grand Rapids, Mich., Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and Rochester, N. Y.

Rogers advised that briefs must be in the hands of the department by April 5.

IN HANOVER ACCIDENT

A sedan driven by Catherine Baulnitz, 69, York, and an auto operated by Beatrice H. Haverstick, 46, Abbottstown, collided in Hanover about 10:57 a.m. Sunday. The Baulnitz car was moving west on Hanover St. as the Haverstick sedan was traveling north on Baltimore. Hanover police reported. After the impact the Haverstick car spun and struck a parked car near the intersection, owned by N. G. Markle, Hanover, police said. Damage was $300 to the Haverstick car and $25 each to the Baulnitz and Markle autos, according to investigators.

LIST SPEAKER FOR LECTURES AT SEMINARY

Dr. Carl E. Braaten, assistant professor of systematic theology at the Maywood campus of the University of Chicago, will be the spring lecturer at the Lutheran Theological Seminary on Wednesday.

He will present two lectures entitled: "A Critical Look at the New Hermeneutic" and "The Lordship of Christ and the Modern Man." The first lecture will be at 10 a.m. in the old chapel in the administration building. The second lecture at 2 p.m. will be in the social room.

Born in St. Paul, Minn., Dr. Braaten completed his early schooling at St. Olaf College and did graduate study at the University of Minnesota and Luther Seminary. He received his doctorate at Harvard. He was also a Fulbright scholar at the University of Paris and spent a year of study at the University of Heidelberg, Germany.

In addition to his teaching assignments, he has written numerous articles and is presently editor-in-chief of "Dialogue: A Journal of Theology."

The public is invited to attend the lectures.

Gray said each person will be rationed daily 24 crackers, five six-ounce cups of water and a few pieces of candy. He said the crackers are similar to graham crackers, about three inches square and containing 30 calories each.

Each person will have a two-by-five-foot area on the floor for sleeping.

"They want to make the shelter conditions as real as possible," Gray stated. He said also that those completing the course will be given certificates authorizing them as shelter instructors and managers.

Among those taking part in the program are Wilbur L. Plank, Adams County CD director and president of the Gettysburg Engineering Co., and Dean A. Shultz, a designer with the firm.

WCTU Institute Set For Saturday

The annual Adams County WCTU Institute will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Bethel Mennonite Church, two miles south of Biglerville on Route 34.

The afternoon program will include a bronze medal speech contest, glimpses from the children's group, the Loyal Temperance Legion, a story for the children, a talk by Mrs. Pearl Brown, WCTU worker in the schools of Pennsylvania, on alcohol and narcotic education.

There will be a covered dish supper with those attending asked to bring a covered dish and table service.

During the evening session, there will be a silver medal speech contest, devotions by the host pastor, Rev. John Rudy; special music by Bethel Mennonite Chorus, talk by Mrs. Pearl Brown, WCTU worker in schools, Ridge-way, Pa.; a film, "Verdict at 132." Everyone is welcome.

TRADING ACTIVE

NEW YORK (AP)—Airlines made a snap comeback in an irregular market which showed a slight gain on average early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The airlines rebounded after two days of sharp losses based on fears that the government may force fare reductions because of the rising profit ratio. These fears apparently were calmed for the time being.

The performance of such groups as autos, rubbers, farm implements, aerospace issues, electrical equipments and drugs was steady to higher.

Chemicals, building materials and electronics were mixed.

mander, had to remain in the capsule only 23 minutes longer than originally planned as the launch crew went through a near-perfect countdown.

The launching was delayed 23 minutes because of a leak in a fuel oxidizer line.

Six minutes after launch, the mission control center reported that Molly Brown was in a successful orbit.

Thousands watched the launch from the beaches around this spaceport. Millions more watched on television. Among them were President Johnson, who witnessed the spectacle on TV at the White House, his face very serious and rarely changing expression.

WIVES KEEP VIGIL

Others included Barbara Young and Betty Grissom, wives of the Gemini pilots, at their homes in Houston, Tex. Anxious hours lay ahead of them. Both arose before dawn to begin the tense vigil. Donald K. Slayton, astronaut coordinator, put in calls to them to "check on their status."

As the Gemini spacecraft hurtled into its first orbit, the camera-carrying Ranger 9 launched from here Sunday completed a midcourse maneuver intended to send it crashing into the crater Alphonsus on the moon at 9:08 A.M. (EST) Wednesday.

If there are no hitches, the pair were to complete their three orbits in four hours, 52 minutes and parachute to a landing in the Atlantic near Grand Turk Island about 2:15 p.m. Recovery ships and planes, headed by the aircraft carrier Intrepid, were stationed in the intended impact area.

FIRE SMALL JETS

Grissom, the command pilot, fired small jets to provide the final maneuver that steered the Molly Brown into the desired orbit.

He has the distinction of becoming the first man to rocket twice into space.

On July 21, 1961, he sailed briefly across the threshold of space on a 16-minute project Mercury suborbital flight and, in a hair-raising finish, swam for his life when his Liberty Bell 7 filled with water and sank.

Grissom and Young are the 18th and 19th persons and the seventh and eighth Americans to fly into space. The Soviet Union has orbited 10 men and one woman.

BETTER CRAFT

Although the Gemini spacecraft is about 4,000 pounds lighter than the Soviets', it has a key capability which the Soviet vehicle did not. It can be maneuvered so that astronaut teams can practice techniques that must be perfected for Project Apollo manned lunar landings planned late in this decade.

Both the ability to maneuver and to operate outside an orbiting spacecraft are techniques which must be developed before either Russians or Americans go to the moon.

On the next Gemini flight, scheduled in June, astronaut James A. McDivitt is scheduled to emerge partly at least from his spacecraft.

CHECK SUPPORT SYSTEM

Twenty minutes after liftoff, while Grissom and Young soared high over Africa, they made checks of their life support system. Grissom reported to a tracking station in the Canary Islands that all systems were working well.

As they wheeled around the globe, the astronauts were to fly their 7,000-pound vehicle backward, forward and sideways, pitch it nose down and stand it on its tail. During most of the mission, they were to face the direction they were flying instead of backward as the Mercury pilots did.

Grissom was to be in control most of the time and twice during the flight he was to lower the orbital path by about 50 miles in the first attempt to change an orbit on a manned space trip. The Russians are not known to have accomplished this feat.

ROBERT COOK DIES

Robert Cook, 70, 32 N. Stratton St., died suddenly this afternoon at 1:10 at his home.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, investigated and attributed death to coronary occlusion.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of the Peters Funeral Home, are incomplete.

elaborate on the latter statement.

Mr. Asquith, who last May cast the deciding vote for the six-district plan that was later rejected at Harrisburg, suggested at one stage Monday evening that the county board "should probably try to fail to accept" the state order on reorganization until the county is assured its plans for an area technical school will be approved.

Later when the board voted to resubmit to Harrisburg an area technical school plan, there were no conditions attached involving reorganization.

Members of the Gettysburg delegation included these teachers: Jack Corbin, John O'Brien, Edward Brownley, and these directors: Mrs. Rice, William Jacobs, Glenn Trostle, Paul and Horace Waybright and Orville B. Orner.

Questions were raised about state appropriation, transportation, kindergartens, the effects of the loss of Conewago Twp. and McSherrytown, the election of directors, the quality of education in county schools and were answered by Supt. Coulson and Mr. Asquith.

ASKS ABOUT BRIEFS

Mr. Corbin expressed an interest in seeing the briefs submitted to the state board by appellant districts and he was offered a set for his study.

Mr. Jacobs asked if the county would lose state appropriation as a single district. He was told size of a district is not a factor in determining state appropriation and there would not likely be any change in the amount for a time after one district is established.

Mr. O'Brien asked about the effect of the loss of the two districts near Hanover. He was told the districts include about three percent of the public school pupils in the county and nine percent of its assessed valuation. Mr. Coulson said their loss would result in a slight raising of the reimbursement fraction for the remainder of the county which would mean an increase in state aid.

SCHOOLS WILL GAIN

Mr. Trostle asked about transportation of pupils under a single district and was told there would be no marked change but there might be opportunity to realign routes and achieve some economies.

Mr. Jacobs and others asked about the possibility of "advanced areas" of the county being penalized by poorer areas under the single district plan either by being deprived of a program or by having it delayed. Mr. Coulson replied: "I can't agree that any district is much advanced beyond another in all ways. Take a long, hard look and it's difficult to find major differences. Actually each school stands to gain in one way or another."

Mr. Waybright asked about the election of directors under a single district and Mr. Coulson explained they could be elected at large or the court could be asked to divide the county into election districts, three or nine of them under present law. A bill at Harrisburg would increase the size of the single district board up to 15. Mr. Coulson noted that under the six-unit plan, directors in all but one district would have to be elected at large.

UNIFORM RATE BENEFICIAL

Mr. Coulson also reviewed a tax study he has just completed and concluded the importance of a uniform school tax rate in the county cannot be overlooked.

Mr. O'Brien expressed the opinion the one-unit plan "will impede progress of education" in the county.

Mr. Corbin noted that the county plan was upset by an appeal from a "minority" of the school districts. He was told that fact was pointed out to the state board and Mr. Coulson said the filing of a single appeal gave the state board the right to review the entire problem and "do as it saw fit."

Mr. Coulson also said: "Mere unhappiness with a decision does not provide grounds for an appeal."

Mr. Jacobs asked about kindergartens under a single district and said: "Fairfield and Franklin Twp. have kindergartens now. Would they be set up all over the county or would those two districts have to drop them?" Mr. Coulson told him the current programs would not be dropped "and I would expect the new school board would seek to expand the program wherever possible."

There was one point on which all agreed. The state has not defined a "comprehensive education program" and in the state board's order setting up the single district plan it ruled in support of appellants that claimed the six-unit plan "cannot effectively support a comprehensive program of education."

COUNTY BOARD

ly assigned by the State Board of Education to Hanover in the school reorganization plan.

The action on the area technical school plan was taken after County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson outlined to the board three courses of action he felt were open to them. The first was the one adopted. The second was to explore the possibility of developing an area technical school that would include all of the county and the Hanover School District. The third possibility was to explore the possibility of developing a York-Adams attendance area plan that might permit the development of several school centers within the two-county area.

The County Board adopted a resolution authorizing the submission of the necessary forms to Harrisburg to get permission for proposed construction projects in the Bermudian Springs School District to move ahead temporarily waiving any claim for reimbursement in order to get the project moving.

The necessary resolutions had been adopted by the Bermudian Springs board earlier Monday evening at a special meeting. The construction program may involve classroom additions to the East Berlin and York Springs Elementary School buildings and/or a classroom and auditorium addition to the Bermudian Springs High School building. The district would apply later for reimbursement from the state on whatever building plan is decided upon.

The county board also adopted a resolution on compliance with the Civil Rights Act to enable the special services program to purchase surplus property when available.

Assistant County Superintendent George B. Inskip told of work he has been doing under the Economic Opportunity Act as head of a committee named recently by the county commissioners. He said he is ready to help school districts set up projects under the act.

Supt. Coulson reported briefly on pending school legislation including a House bill that would increase state appropriations for vocational, agriculture, home economics, industrial and distributive education pupils.

Mr. Coulson said that the bill, if passed, would mean $10,000 extra in state funds for Adams County schools. He referred briefly to the status of the new school bus bills and offered the directors information on legislation to establish an "intermediate unit" between the local school district and the state department. Two bills proposing such a plan have been offered.

Mr. Coulson also reported on a recent meeting he held with school administrators and others on the need of the Educational TV station at Hershey, now serving schools in this area and offering evening programs on Channel 33, for $150,000 to meet capital fund requirements.

The board gave routine approval to the general and payroll accounts for February.

President Dean Asquith presided at the meeting which adjourned shortly before 11 o'clock. The session was held in the county superintendent's office on Carlisle St. with these other members of the board in attendance: Glenn M. Haar, Clark Wildasin, Hugh C. McIlhenny and Fred H. Hartlaub.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

James H. Reaver has broken ground on the south side of East Water street where he will erect a dwelling house.

C. William Troxell was on Tuesday afternoon elected clerk in the Citizens Trust Company, taking the position made vacant recently by the death of his father. The appointment will meet with general favor among the patrons of the institution.

It is reported that the three local churches which years ago presented war claims for damage during the summer of 1863 are to receive the money due them. St. James Lutheran church would get $160 if this is correct; St. Mark's Reformed on the Baltimore Pike, $215; and Trinity Reformed $70.

The Evergreen Cemetery Association expects during the coming summer to carry out the plan which they have had in contemplation for some time to open their fourteen acres of land south of the present cemetery. Entrances will be had from both the Baltimore Pike and Taneytown Road and the place will be attractively laid out with driveways and the planting of trees and shrubbery.

Biglerville: Workmen are installing electric lights in the Bell exchange on York street. Both exchanges are so equipped, the Cumberland Valley having put in lights some time ago. Both get their current from the Thomas Brothers Store. Miss Lila Rice has returned to our town after an absence of several months. She has opened her millinery store in the G. H. Knouse building. Electric lights have been installed in the Kleinfelter barrel factory.

The mischievous prank of several children resulted in the burning to the ground late Thursday afternoon of Chestnut Hill school house in Union township. School was dismissed at the usual hour in the afternoon and before going home some of the boys loitered about the grounds playing. A burning stump nearby was their principal source of amusement and the boys started to throw about glowing pieces of wood in an effort to see whether he could throw a brand higher in the air than any of his fellows. One of the youngsters happened to cast a piece of the wood into the belfry. It was believed the force of the throw had extinguished the fire and no thought of any damage being caused entered the children's minds. After a little more play they departed for their homes. They had scarcely arrived there when telephone calls announced that the building was ablaze. The building could not be saved. The flames spread from the blazing belfry to the wooden shingle roof and it was but a few minutes before that was burning fiercely. Efforts to extinguish it were useless in view of any adequate fire fighting apparatus. Residents of that section succeeded in getting out practically everything — books and desks and even the stove was removed before the roof fell in. The building was a one-story brick structure and was built about thirty years ago. Only a few days remain of the present school term and directors have not yet decided where the final sessions will be held. The teacher is Miss Roxie Brumgard.

Today's Talk

THE RACE WHERE
WIND TELLS

The start of a race is always fascinating — because the competitors all seem to present the same appearance.

But still more fascinating than the beginning of a race — is the end. Because it's at that time when the spectacle is presented of a man who trained so well and who controlled his mind so accurately that he was able to out-distance those who seemed at the start to be on a par with him.

For, you see, it's the wind, after all, that tells the story! It was not so very many years ago that a boy was glad to get the chance to be taught a profession, or a trade, or a business, by entering the employ of the one into whose line he wished to enter — simply as an apprentice — perhaps without any pay whatsoever at the start.

Today, almost the first questions that a prospective employee asks are these: "What is the salary? What are the hours? Do I have an assistant? How much vacation do I get? How soon will I get a raise?"

But the successful competitor in the race is the one to whom an understanding of wind is given at the very start. The chap who says: I want work. I don't care what you give me to do. I don't care what the pay is at the start — he's the chap with the kind of wind that's going to place him a winner — and make no mistake about that!

Nearly all of us have experienced largely parallel. We are all of us just human, after all. Our failures or our successes are relative. But we all have a certain reserve, and reserve in wind can be trained in exactly the same manner that the mind can be trained, or that the hand can be trained, or that the eye can be trained. The fruits of a race do not always fall to the swift — but to the persistent one, the preparer chap — to the one with faith in the ultimate.

TAKE-HOME PAY
"It was counted out in dollars and they call it take-home pay," said a workman, "but we count it in a very different way. When I hand it to the Missus this is how she runs it through: 'Here's the dress for little Mary and a pair of shoes for you."

"Here's the picture show on Friday, and the food we're going to eat. Here's the home that we are buying with the payments we must meet. Here's that visit from the doctor, and I wonder can there be This week that pretty bonnet I've had set aside for me?"

The master of the payroll every dollar has to count. It's his duty to make certain he gives just the right amount. It is money that he handles, but my take-home pay we read in shoes and frocks and bonnets and the various things we need.

RECOLLECTION DAY IS HELD

Seventy-one women of St. Aloysius Parish and guests attended the first annual Parish Day of Recollection, sponsored by the Parish Council of Catholic Women, and held on Sunday in the parish church. The Rev. J. C. Prabhu, a native of India and member of the Jesuit Order of Priests at Woodstock, conducted the spiritual exercises. The day opened with the 10 o'clock Mass, a High Mass in honor of St. Cecilia, sung by the Senior Choir. Miss A. Marie Badde directed and Miss Anna C. Weaver presided at the console. The women received Communion at the Mass and prayers of thanksgiving following the Mass were led by Mrs. Paul E. Altoff.

A brunch was served in the parish hall by the men of the Holy Name Society. The first conference by Father Prabhu began at 12:30 p.m., and was followed by the recitation of the Rosary and the Litany. Members who assisted with leading the prayers were Mrs. Bernard M. Selby, parish council president; Mrs. Conrad C. Hull, spiritual development committee chairman, who was in charge of arrangements; Mrs. W. T. Gingrow, Mrs. Bernard G. Kebil, Mrs. Thomas G. French and the litany was led by Mrs. Altoff. Private prayer and meditation were held until the second conference at 1:45 p.m. The day was concluded with Holy Hour and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, with the traditional hymns being sung by the women. The theme of the conference was "Seeking Christ." Separate talks were given to the teenage girls attending, including the members of the Girl Scout troop whose leader is Mary Rita Redding, as part of their Marian Award requirements.

The next meeting of the Parish Council will be held on Sunday, April 25 and will be in the form of a birthday party, with the committee headed by Mrs. John R. Rudisill Sr., and Mrs. Merle Little in charge.

Mass on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be celebrated at 8:15 a.m.; Saturday Mass will be at 7:30 a.m. in the church. There will be Mass on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., with Lenten homily by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John E. Metz. Stations of the Cross will be conducted on Friday at 2:15 and 7:30 p.m.

YOUTH GROUPS MEET SUNDAY

Atlee F. Rebert, adult counselor for March, led the meeting of the Junior High Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's United Church of Christ on Sunday evening. He offered prayer, read the scripture from Proverbs and presented an article "Is It In The Bible?" There was group singing and refreshments were served. The group will not meet again until Sunday, April 4, at 6:30 p.m. Elmer W. Gall will be the April counselor.

"Wither White Men" was the subject of the topic discussed by Jane Claybaugh, leader, at the meeting of the Senior High Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's Church on Sunday evening. Carole Finchbaugh offered prayer. There was group singing accompanied by Linda Sentz. William Staley was appointed to be leader for the next meeting on Sunday, April 4, at 6:30.

Norman Sentz Jr. was leader at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Christ United Church of Christ on Sunday evening. The program opened with hymn singing accompanied by Nancy Koons and continued as follows: C. E. Pledge in unison; scripture, Debbie Arentz; group hymn; prayer, Richard J. Berwager; piano solo, "The Holy City," Barbara Sheely; Bible quiz; poem, Ruth Sentz; topic, "I Learn to Worship," discussed by Donald L. Wolfe; closing hymn, Lord's Prayer and C. E. benediction. The society will meet at 7 p.m. next Sunday.

SENATE OKAYS
THREE BILLS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three more bills are on their way to the House with unanimous Senate approval.

The bills were approved Monday in the Senate as the chamber worked on a routine agenda. One proposal would raise the penalty for bomb hoaxes from $1,000 and (or) one year in jail to $5,000 and (or) five years.

Another measure would permit counties to appropriate up to $1,000 in county funds for centennial ceremonies commemorating the end of the Civil War.

The third bill would permit the state to receive and distribute surplus federal goods. Only one bill had dissent, but there was no debate. That was legislation to eliminate referendums from ward realignment in Philadelphia.

The proposal was sent to Gov. Scranton on a vote of 44-5.

Insurance Firm Is Suspended

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Lebanon County insurance firm has been suspended from transacting further business by the State Insurance Department.

Audrey R. Kelly, insurance commissioner, charged Monday that the firm was insolvent and that further transaction of business would be hazardous to its policyholders, creditors and the public.

A petition will be filed in the Dauphin County Court, asking for an order of liquidation, Mrs. Kelly said.

The suspension order prohibits the company from issuance of policies, transfers of policies and payment of monies without prior written approval of the insurance commissioner.

HAS HER OWN

(Editor's Note — A short beer in Arizona.)

Her own private coal mine — in the basement.

Boats in the bank.

All are a part of the American scene.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — It'll be easier now for Arizonans to have a short beer at home.

Gov. Sam Goddard has signed into law a bill to permit the sale of beer in cans smaller than eight ounces. Previously it was illegal for package liquor stores to sell smaller cans, although the short can of beer could be purchased in some bars.

COAL IN CELLAR

SHAWNEE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. William Leaver, 71, has her own private coal mine in her basement.

At the rate Mrs. Leaver uses her coal, it will last 1,000 years. Current estimates are she has 10,000 tons still to be mined in her basement.

The mine was discovered by Mrs. Leaver's husband in 1917 and has been going strong since. It is one of the few in this Appalachian country of Ohio which is still producing coal.

Three or four times a year, a son, Delbert 46, of Columbus, comes to this hilly town "to dig enough to fill the coal bin" for his mother.

Mrs. Leaver's mine goes 150 feet from the basement under a steep hill. The shaft is 10 feet wide and 14 feet high.

$2 MILLION COLLECTION

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It took Harold Stiers 40 years to acquire his $2-million collection of model boats. Now he's had to put them in a bank vault where he can't enjoy them.

The boats, made of jade, ivory and silver, were the objects of one of the most quixotic burglaries in the memory of St. Louis police.

Eighty-two of the 200 models were stolen from Stiers' mansion last October. After a comedy of errors by the burglars, the models were found in the trunk of the St. Louis district attorney's car.

One man, Wyvonne Hornburg, St. Louis, has been charged with the theft and detective Sgt. Ernest Alexander says more may be arrested.

Alexander said a New York man hired a ring of 12 St. Louis thieves to grab the boats. The crooks got them to Chicago, then the New Yorker decided he didn't want them, the officer said.

The burglars, left holding the bag, negotiated with police and the district attorney, then the district attorney found the boats in his car.

Some of the models date back to the Ming dynasty in China. Stiers, 64, collected them from all over the world.

Gets Heavy Mail
On School Bus Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. Preston B. Davis, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, says he has received about 15,000 pieces of mail from persons interested in proposed legislation that would allow private and parochial school children to ride tax-supported buses.

Davis, a Northumberland County Republican, said Monday volume of mail on the subject has forced him to discontinue acknowledging the letters. He said many of the letters contained petitions.

County Boosts
Real Estate Tax

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The Montgomery County Commissioners have adopted a 1965 budget of $19,789,457—a boost of $1,527,384—and raised taxes 1.5 mills ($1.50 for each $100 of assessed valuation).

The commissioners also withheld a $120,000 appropriation Monday for the county's proposed community college because of the probability it won't open in September as previously scheduled.

No Public Interest Shown In Senatorial Reapportionment

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. Marvin V. Keller, R - Bucks, threatened today to call off public hearings on senatorial reapportionment because of an evident lack of public interest.

Keller, chairman of the Senate Elections and Apportionment Committee, said he has not received one request as yet to testify at two days of scheduled public hearings April 7-8.

"I'm of the mind to call the hearings off if I don't hear anything this week," he remarked. "We can't run these things on the last minute."

UNDER COURT ORDERS

The General Assembly is under State Supreme Court orders to reapportion itself on the one-man, one-vote principle by Sept. 1. The House Apportionment Committee is in the midst of holding regional public hearings for that chamber's realignment.

The Senate, however, is scheduled to hold its public hearings in Harrisburg. "I'm willing to listen to as many people as want to testify," Keller said, "but I'm not going to issue special invitations."

GLAD TO LISTEN

"If even only one party wants to come to testify, I'd be glad to listen to him. We'd schedule him for 10 a.m. and let it go at that."

The General Assembly, meanwhile, ran through a light day of work Monday with both chambers coming back for another meeting this afternoon.

The Senate passed a bill authorizing the state to participate in the federal anti-poverty and Appalachia programs and sent the measure to the House.

The measure is necessary for the state to take advantage of federal funds offered under the two programs.

APPROPRIATION PACKAGE

The chamber was flooded with a package of appropriation bills—68 of them, to be exact, worth $122.3 million.

Most of them were earmarked in Gov. Scranton's $1.261 billion budget for 1965-66 as specific appropriations for institutions and facilities.

The bill appropriating funds for the bulk of government day-to-day spending will be introduced later.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

Milk—A bill was introduced in the Senate to replace the Milk Control Commission with a milk stabilization board which would have to be reapproved every two years. Tires—The House sent the Senate on a vote of 176-28 a bill that would specifically permit carbide studded tires to be used on Pennsylvania highways. Communists—A bill was introduced in the House which would prohibit communists from making speeches at state colleges.

NEW ATTACK ON
COMMISSION

HARRISBURG (AP) — The much-beleagured Milk Control Commission is under attack from another flank.

A bill was introduced in the Senate Monday to abolish the three-member commission and replace it with a milk stabilization board.

The effect of the legislation would be to do away with permanent milk price controls and replace them with limited regulation.

The proposed milk stabilization board would have the power to impose temporary retail and wholesale price levels in emergency situations which might threaten the state's milk supply.

PROPOSED BY PITTSBURGH

Temporary price regulation would expire within six months unless renewed while the stabilization board would have only a two-year life, renewable at the pleasure of the legislature.

The plan was proposed by the Pittsburgh city administration and received the sponsorship of the entire Allegheny County delegation in the Senate.

Producer or farm price controls could be rescinded by a referendum of farms in affected marketing areas.

The bill also would require milk dealers to make their records public during price hearings. They are not required to open their books under present law.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Dr. Rene Frank, 55, composer and chairman of Fort Wayne Bible College's division of arts and sciences, died Sunday, two weeks after he suffered a heart attack. Frank, who was born at Mulhouse, Alsace-Lorraine, fled from the Nazis to Japan during World War II. He directed the U.S. Army school music department at Kyoto in 1946 and 1947.

SPORTS

Cassius Clay, The Enigma Of Sports, Has Three Faces

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay is a man of three faces.

One is that of Muhammad Ali, devoted disciple of Elijah Muhammad and fanatical convert to the Black Muslim religion.

Another is that of a boasting, poem-sporting loudmouth, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, who bleats to all within earshot: "I am the greatest — I am the prettiest."

The third is that of Cassius Marcellus Clay, descendant of a Kentucky slave, humble as a baby, a man who hates violence and wants to raise chickens and pat little children on their heads.

HE IS A MUSLIM

Who is the real Cassius Clay?

He may be all of them, playing different roles at different times. He is the enigma of sports. Is he stupid, a dupe of the Muslims? Or is he smart as a fox? Is he truly a great fighter? Or is he a farce with a barrel of luck?

Make no mistake about it — he is a Muslim.

Down here where Cassius is training for his May 25 return fight with Sonny Liston, the word is out that the champion wants to soft-pedal his Muslim affiliations.

Is he ready to give it up as a bad thing?

NOT DROPPING FAITH

"No, sir, not at all," Cassius blurted, as sweat cascaded down his upper body in his cubby-hole dressing room of the Fifth Street gym. "I got a tough fight coming up. I want to concentrate on my fight."

The champion said he adopted the Islam, or Black Muslim, faith seven years ago when he was just 16.

"I read some literature that a man passed out to me on the street," he explained. "I got interested. I went to a Mosque — that's just like a Shriners' temple. I heard Elijah Muhammad. I knew right then that he was the true Messenger of Allah. There is only one God, Allah, and some day all Negroes will believe it."

"LIVE PERFECT LIFE"

Cassius said he was lost until he saw the light, and he added:

"Now I am different. I have peace and understanding. I don't smoke. I don't drink. I

ALLEN TO TRY TO CUT ERRORS

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — "This season I'm going to take more time before I turn the ball loose."

Speaking was Richie Allen, last year's Rookie of the Year for the Philadelphia Phillies, who made 41 errors in 1964 — most by any third baseman in the National League.

Allen needed a neat pickup by first baseman John Herrnstein to avoid an error on his lone fielding chance Monday as the Phillies edged the Chicago White Sox, 2-1.

"I'm not ready to 'air it out' (throw hard) yet," Allen said in explaining his cautious approach. "I'm waiting for a couple of real hot days—and then I'll let it go."

Manager Gene Mauch said he approves of Allen's caution.

FRANCHISE FOR HARRISBURG

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The City of Harrisburg was awarded a franchise in the Eastern Professional Basketball League Monday by unanimous agreement of the seven club owners at a special meeting.

Harry Rudolph, league president, announced the decision and welcomed the return of Harrisburg after an absence of nearly 11 years.

Harrisburg will become the eighth member of the league. Other teams are Sunbury, Allentown, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Del., and Camden and Trenton, N.J.

The franchise was awarded to Jerry Waxman, Bernie Symons and Dr. Donald Freedman, all of Harrisburg, for $1,500. They previously had tried to purchase the Sunbury franchise for $6,000, including players and coaches.

The three-man group said it had permission to use the State Farm Show Arena for home games.

IN ALL-STAR TILT

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sim Hill and Norm Vanlier of Midland's PIAA Class A basketball champions will play for the Pennsylvania All-Star against the National All-Stars here Friday.

They were named Monday along with Richard Braucher from Kutztown.

BIG FIELD IN MAT TOURNAMENT; ENTER BAVARO

LARAMIE, Wyo.—The greatest field in the history of the national collegiate wrestling tournament will compete next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the 35th annual NCAA championships at the University of Wyoming's Memorial fieldhouse.

Some 263 wrestlers from 70 schools in 25 states currently are registered and will battle for titles in 10 weight divisions. Last year's tourney at Cornell University set a record with 253 competitors.

Other entries are expected and could push the figure to the 300 mark.

ENTER FULL TEAMS

Leading the entries with a full 10-man team is defending champion Oklahoma State. The powerful Cowboys, who own 24 of the 34 national crowns, also return one defending titlist, Yojiro Uetake at 130 pounds.

OSU's Big Eight cousins Colorado, Iowa State and Oklahoma also have full teams entered along with Michigan, Syracuse and Colorado State University. Host Wyoming and Brigham Young each have nine entrants.

Mankato State, NCC college division champion, will send seven men to Laramie along with Colorado State College and Oregon State.

BAVARO IN 147

College division champions who qualified March 13 at Colorado Mines for the university tournament are: Steve Johansen, Fresno State, 115; Gangstad, Mankato State, 123; Dale Stryker, Western State, 130; Ron Knoebel, Lymington College, 137; Joe Bavaro, Gettysburg College, 147; Jim Burke, San Francisco State, 157 (Burke will compete at 147 at Laramie); John Carr, Wilkes College, 167, and Al Rozman, Western State, 191.

Competition will begin Thursday at 2 p.m., M.S.T., on six mats with the second round following at 7:30. Friday the quarterfinals begin at 1:30 p.m. and the semifinals and consolation first and second rounds will go at 7:30. Saturday consolation semifinals and finals begin at 1:30 p.m. and the championship finals start at 8. The six mats will be used for the first five sessions with one mat for the championship bouts Saturday night.

"I don't believe he'll quit," said Willie. "He's crazy about fighting. He wants that title more than anything else. If I had his money I would quit right now. If I had it before I won the title I would have packed it in."

Pension Fund Pays Out $4.5 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Major League Players Pension Fund has paid out almost $4.5 million in pensions, life insurance and health care to baseball players, former players and their families since 1947.

Commissioner Ford Frick said Monday $33 million had been contributed to the fund, with less than 10 per cent — about $2.9 million — coming from the players. Television revenue from World Series and All-Star games has made up the bulk of contributions.

Frick said 785 players and former players are eligible for benefits by virtue of having played in the majors for five years or more. Of the total membership, 239 are still active in the big leagues.

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Tierney, 74, composer for Broadway musicals of the 1920s, died Monday of a heart attack. Tierney wrote the score for three Ziegfeld Follies. Best known of his individual compositions was "Alice Blue Gown" from the musical "Irene." He was born in Perth Amboy, N.J.

YOUNG FIELDER IS ROCK 'N ROLL PLATTER STAR

By MIKE RATHER

Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) —

"I make naturally beautiful music," said Tony Conigliaro, the brash Boston outfielder who grabbed the brass ring in his first shot at the majors and now has his sights set on a gold record in his new career as a rock 'n' roll singer.

"I really just happened into this," said Conigliaro. "I was doing some singing at a party and there were some people there from RCA Victor, Mercury and Columbia who expressed interest. They bid just like in baseball, and I signed for the best deal."

TWO FOR RELEASE

Two records already are on the market — "Playing the Field" and "Why Don't They Understand?" Two more will be released soon — "Little Red Scooter" and "I Can't Get Over You."

In addition, Conigliaro is scheduled to appear on two television shows — Ed Sullivan and Shindig.

Do the Red Sox have any objections to his recording career? "No, it's in my contract with RCA that it can't interfere with my playing. The Red Sox don't object as long as I don't cut any records during the season."

But if Conigliaro's voice is pleasant to the teen-age crowd it's his bat that has been the pleasant sound for the Red Sox crowd.

24 HOME RUNS

Despite two injuries — a broken bone in his right arm and a broken bone in his left hand — Conigliaro played in 111 games as a rookie last season, hitting 290 with 24 homers and 52 runs batted in.

But the 29-year-old outfielder admits it wasn't easy.

"There's tremendous pressure," he said. "It makes you bear down — and either you do or you're all done. As for the biggest adjustment, I was just a kid who liked dances and rock 'n' roll. I had to learn to act like a big leaguer."

COACH BUYS CELTICS STOCK

BOSTON (AP) — Red Auerbach—pro basketball's highest-paid coach at an estimated $50,000 — has bought a piece of success, otherwise known as the Boston Celtics.

Lou Piri publicly welcomed Auerbach Monday as a fellow stockholder with himself and Mrs. Walter Brown, widow of the Celtics' owner-president.

Auerbach has spent 15 of his 19 coaching years in the National Basketball Association building a Boston dynasty which now boasts nine consecutive Eastern Division titles. The team is seeking its eighth league crown, seventh in a row in the coming playoffs.

BRIGHT FUTURE

Red took on the added job of general manager shortly after Brown's death last summer.

"I see a bright future for the league and the game in Boston," Auerbach said, adding attendance is better and fan interest higher than ever here.

Piri would not give out details of the deal but said Auerbach did not get a full one-third share of the club but he was "permitted to purchase stock and on terms very favorable to him."

Red would not comment on the $50,000 salary estimate other than to say "I don't come cheap." However, Piri revealed the figure was "very close."

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Police are looking for two young men and a woman in connection with a $10,000 burglary of a jewelry store here over the weekend.

Stephen Yenchick, manager of Regal & Blum jewelry store, said burglars broke into the store some time Saturday night and took an assortment of necklaces, watches and other items. A briefcase apparently used to carry the loot was recovered by police.

HARD-HITTING TWINS LACK GOOD DEFENSE

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Minnesota muscle men scare everybody in the American League, including their own pitching staff. Balls rocket into orbit off the bats of Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva, Jimmie Hall and Bob Allison. But too many enemy ground balls and bloopers reach fair territory untouched by human hand.

Manager Sam Mele sadly tells tales of unearned runs and shocking boots in the late innings that turned two-run leads into disasters.

"I'll go out to South Bend once or twice," Lyons said. "And then when I have to go to Europe on business later I'll keep an eye on them by mail."

He said he was working on instructions "in some easily memorized paragraphs." He said rowing is a difficult sport "and coaching it by mail won't make it any easier."

ALUMNI RAISE FUND

Lyons said Notre Dame alumni in Philadelphia collected some money and told the crew members they could provide either lodging or meal money while here. He said Monaghan's mother and others arranged for Philadelphia oarsmen here to house the visitors.

Lyons said he was looking forward to the year "with a great deal of zest," but admitted being nervous.

"I'd like to see a great first year crew," he said, but he admitted it will be a tough job.

"You've got to have a crew rowing together for the better part of a year to develop the rhythm and power you need for a winning shell. Knowing how to get it takes months of work and watching the neck and shoulders of the man just ahead of you."

"But when you get it, it's a wonderful thing."

Notre Dame Rowing Crew Training On Schuylkill

By JIM LAMB

Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The

Notre Dame victory song is heard along the Schuylkill River here these days, and it's no recording.

Out on the river is the Notre Dame crew. And it's no mirage.

The team came here for a week of intensive training, tuning up for its first try at intercollegiate rowing. They will be coached by John T. Lyons, a Philadelphia area management consultant, who will coach them this spring by mail.

Lyons, who rowed on national championship crews, said the Fighting Irish crew has overcome all sorts of difficulties getting ready for its season. Having to come East for coaching is just one of them.

JUNIOR STARTS MOVE

Lyons credited Andrew J. Monaghan, a Notre Dame junior from Philadelphia, as being the driving force behind the team. Monaghan, a member of the Penn Athletic Club crew, organized the crew and arranged for the coaching here.

Lyons said the crew was organized "under the puzzled eyes of the athletic office," but given university approval and is entered in five regattas.

"They've got the world's worst rowing course," said Lyons of the hazardous St. Joseph River in Indiana.

Lyons became the Notre Dame coach because the Penn AC crew coach, John Galloway, was away on Naval Reserve duty.

"OLD OARSMAN"

"I'm an old oarsman who loves the river. And I like to work with young people," Lyons said.

About 30 of the 65 Notre Dame rowers could come here for the twice-daily sessions on the Schuylkill, course for several major regattas.

"I'll go out to South Bend once or twice," Lyons said. "And then when I have to go to Europe on business later I'll keep an eye on them by mail."

He said he was working on instructions "in some easily memorized paragraphs." He said rowing is a difficult sport "and coaching it by mail won't make it any easier."

A pitcher who wasn't so fortunate Monday was Sandy Koufax in Milwaukee's 6-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Braves rocked Koufax for three runs on a walk and five singles in the fifth inning after he had limited them to two hits in the first four innings.

In other games, Washington downed Detroit 3-1, Boston defeated the Los Angeles Angels 9-7, Minnesota topped St. Louis 4-3, Philadelphia edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1, Cincinnati nipped Baltimore 2-1, Houston stopped the New York Yankees 7-4 and Cleveland and San Francisco battled to a 3-3 tie in a 13-inning game ended by agreement.

Kansas City defeated a second Dodger Squad 4-1 as Moe Drabowsky and Lew Krausse combined for a two-hitter.

Five Dynamite Bombs Are Found In Five Negro Areas Of Birmingham On Sunday

By JAMES PURKS
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Police said today they had discovered a sixth homemade bomb Monday. It was found at a Negro funeral home, Poole's Funeral Chapel. One of the five bombs found Sunday was near another Negro funeral home.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Police, convinced five dynamite bombs found in Negro areas were meant to explode, pressed an intense investigation Monday into a near disaster they say was averted by the cool work of two Army demolition experts.

Police Chief Jamie Moore assigned a special 20-man investigative team to push an around-the-clock probe.

The bombs, ticking in harmless-looking green boxes, were spotted near the former home of a Negro leader, a Catholic church, a Negro attorney's twice-previously bombed home, a funeral home and a Negro high school. All were within a four-mile radius of northwest Birmingham. Police evacuated the areas.

PREVIOUS TARGETS

This radius includes previous bombing targets — the 16th Street Baptist Church where four Negro girls died in a blast Sept. 15, 1963; the Gaston Motel, and the former home of the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The fifth bomb was discovered late Sunday night near the former home of A. D. King. It was found under a truck by two policemen who were patrolling the street.

They called in the demolition experts, Spec. 6 Robert M. Presley, of Oneonta, Ala., and

M.Sgt. Marvin M. Bryon, who dismantled all the bombs. The experts said this bomb already had reached its time and failed to explode. "It's a wonder it didn't go off," said one.

NOT SCARE DEVICES

Chief Fire Marshal Aaron Rosenfeld and Bryon discounted speculation that the bombs were meant only as scare devices. "Those batteries had plenty of juice," Rosenfeld said. "They were hot. There's no question but what they were meant to go."

Rosenfeld said the first three bombs were set to explode at 12 noon and the fourth at about 6 p.m. No time was given for the fifth bomb.

Moore offered no theories behind the attempted bombings, but would not discount the possibility they were meant to coincide with the start Sunday of a Selma-to-Montgomery march by civil rights demonstrators.

TEACHER FINDS FIRST

The first bomb was noticed by a school teacher, Fred Calhoun, as he arrived for Mass at Our Lady Queen of the Universe Catholic Church on Center Street, part of an area nicknamed "Dynamite Hill" because of past racial bombings. Calhoun said he almost ran over the bomb in a parking lot.

Father Edward L. Foster, who is white, led his all-Negro congregation of about 120 persons outside upon being informed of the discovery and continued Mass in a yard separated from the lethal package by the church.

LBJ REVEALS SECRET VIEWS TO NEWSMEN

By FRANCES LEWINE

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson mixed scenic tours with frank and fascinating "off-the-record" reminiscences Sunday as he gave some rare inside glimpses of how the nation's chief executive operates.

He rocked in a chair at his boyhood home and toured "some pretty country" with a convoy of about 30 reporters and photographers.

Filled with stories — humorous, poignant, politically significant — the President, in jovial mood, held forth for more than three hours with a rapt audience.

REVEALING SESSION

In the view of White House correspondents who went along, it was one of the most revealing sessions with Johnson. But he made them promise not to report his views.

While the show-and-tell tour was in progress, the President kept tuned in to the situation in Selma, Ala., getting half-hour reports on the progress there of the 50-mile march in support of voting rights for Negroes — "keeping my fingers crossed" that there would be no trouble.

After attending Sunday morning services at the white clapboard First Christian Church in Johnson City, Johnson shook hands, signed autographs, and handed out LBJ pins and pens to youngsters.

VISITED BOYHOOD HOME

Going from church for a look at his newly restored boyhood home nearby, the President couldn't resist leading a tour there.

"Bird will fuss a little about it," he told newsmen, referring to Mrs. Johnson, "but come on in and look at it."

He said that hour-long excursion had to be off the record, including his own recollections, because Mrs. Johnson plans a formal opening in April and he

UNION WORKERS TAKE OIL FIRM

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Workers of the Communist-dominated Perbum union took over the head office of the Caltex Oil Co., Monday without waiting for the government to appoint a management team.

Caltex is one of four Western oil companies that were notified last weekend that the government was imposing "authority and supervision" over their operations in Indonesia.

The other companies are Stanvac, Pan-American and Shell. Shell is Dutch, the others American. The notification said government management teams would be appointed for all four companies.

Shell and Stanvac reported normal operations Monday. Pan-American, which is doing only exploration work in Indonesia, has no head office in Jakarta.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Services were held Sunday for Charles H. von Tagen, retired state secretary of the Pennsylvania Grocers Association, who died Thursday at the age of 82. A resident of suburban Abington, he also was once a Philadelphia city councilman.

There are 1,507 life insurance companies in the U.S.

COUNTRY JAUNT

After everyone had trooped through the house, the President said goodbye to his wife, announcing, "I'm going to see some pretty country."

"You all can come along if you want to," he told the news gathering.

The result: a 20-car motorcade followed the President for a 35-minute ride over a back country road, rutty, rocky and so dry the stirred-up dust obscured the cars ahead.

Finally Johnson decided to go home for a long-delayed lunch.

His helicopter rose over the central Texas hill country just as the radio was announcing the successful blast-off of the Ranger rocket from Cape Kennedy to the moon.

SAYS RIGHTS "VIOLATED"

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Robert Poulson, one of four persons convicted of the 1959 burglary at the John B. Rich home, says his rights were violated when he was arrested.

In a petition filed Saturday, Poulson, who is now serving a 6-to-12 year sentence for the burglary, said he should be released from prison because he was not permitted to advise his attorney of his whereabouts when he was arrested in Philadelphia and taken to Reading State Police headquarters.

He also said he was arraigned without his attorney being present.

ent and that he signed a confession that was dictated only after mistreatment and prolonged confinement.

Poulson, John Berkery, Ralph Staino Jr. and Lillian Rels were convicted of the burglary.

Police contended some $475,000 was taken from Rich's home. Rich said his loss was about $17,000 in jewelry and $3,000 in cash.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sun Oil Co. says it will spend $161.1 million this year for modernization, expansion and searching for additional reserves of oil and gas. The company, in its annual report Sunday, said the expenditure would be exclusive of development of the Athabasca Oil Sands in Canada, through Great Canadian Oil Sand Ltd.

RANGE

Fully Automatic

COOKS RINGS AROUND THE REST

What's the secret that makes a new electric range the best possible way to cook your family's meals? The rings! Those magic rings—found only on an electric range—give you these four big advantages.

• clean. No soot, no smoke. Pots and pans remain sparkling bright. The range itself, even your kitchen stays clean.

• cool. Surface units transfer heat directly to pots and pans—not to you or your kitchen. Ovens are fully insulated, too.

• fast. Ovens and broilers heat to desired temperatures faster than you thought possible. Surface units are hot in seconds.

• fully automatic. Dependable, steady electric heat frees you from pot-watching, eliminates guesswork, prevents over-boiling or burning. Just set the automatic controls—and look forward to a delicious meal.

See what a wonderful difference a new electric range will make in your kitchen! Stop in at your appliance dealer's showroom... and find out why an electric range cooks rings around the rest!

Luci Baines Johnson Is Never Alone With Date

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — When Paul Betz takes his girl out on a date, they're never really alone.

Often he and his girl friend go with other couples on the date, which may be a movie, a dance or a pizza party. But even when they go alone, a couple of men are always close by.

The men are Secret Service agents. Paul's girl is Luci Baines Johnson, the President's daughter.

LAUDS BODYGUARDS

"You get used to the bodyguards," said Betz, 20, a premed student at Mt. St. Mary's College, in an interview with a Baltimore reporter.

"We chat with them now and then. They are nice fellows. They stand in the background and you know they are there, even though you often don't see them."

Paul Betz first met Luci, 17, last spring on a blind date. His roommate at Mt. St. Mary's, Bill Lettice of Alexandria, Va., telephoned Paul at his Washington, D. C., home.

"He didn't say who my date was going to be, except to say that she was pretty," Betz recalled.

WENT TO MOVIE

"We had a fine time. We went to a movie."

To have been dating since. Betz has no car. He either takes Luci out in her white convertible or borrows his sister's car.

In the beginning they rode with the Secret Service men. Now that the Johnsons know him better—he spent Christmas with them in Texas—the Secret Service men follow in another car.

IS "PINNED"

Not many weeks after their first date, Luci visited the Mt. St. Marys campus. Paul "pinned" her with his college pin — there are no fraternities at the Catholic college.

This is considered more serious than dating steadily, but less binding than a formal engagement.

Luci, a senior at the National Cathedral School for Girls, an Episcopal school, has since been taking instruction in the Roman Catholic religion, Paul's faith.

But Betz says there are no wedding plans in the immediate future.

"Luci wants to be a registered nurse, and I've got another year of school at Mt. St. Marys, and then all of medical school ahead of me," he said.

SERIOUS STUDENT

A slim, quiet-spoken fellow, Betz takes life seriously. He sent his regrets for the pre-inaugural ball when he learned it fell on the eve of his chemistry examination.

Betz played varsity basketball and golf at Gonzaga High School in Washington but did not go out for sports when he entered Mt. St. Mary's in 1962 because the premed course is considered a rigorous one.

He plays golf and intramural basketball occasionally, and his one extracurricular activity is the Capitol Club, which sponsors dances among young people in Washington and Baltimore. He is club president.

His father is a Washington ophthalmologist but young Betz has not decided what branch of medicine he will enter.

At the end of this school term, he will go back to his standing summer job as a timekeeper with a Washington contractor. With overtime, he often makes more than $100 a week.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

Costumes continue to make a big impression on fashion. The ensemble idea, a suit-and-blouse or coat-and-dress, has endeared itself for many reasons. Doubtless the main attraction is the put-together look that it instantly offers.

Another winning feature about costumes is their versatility. The secondary part — the dress or blouse—now has style and finish, so that it can be worn independently. Thus one costume subdivides into several changes.

Just coming onto the scene, the costume with a long coat, matching skirt and harmonizing blouse, is sure to gain popularity. For it could be the pivotal point of a capsule wardrobe. The combination stands in for a suit and a coat to begin with. Add a compatible dress and you have two complete ensembles as well as a variety of parts to wear separately.

There's a trick, however, to making an addition: Be sure to key its color to that of the lining in a costume's jacket or coat. It need not match, but it must be related. For example, a coat lined in navy would relate to a navy and red print dress. A print lining calls for mating with a solid color, one that picks up some shade in the print.

Colors, otherwise combined, destroy the costume look. And that would be a pity. For women-on-the-go a costume obviously solves the riddle of being well-

Peress.

WORLD'S FAIR IS SPRINGING TO LIFE AGAIN

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid the splashing of paint brushes and the pounding of hammers, the billion-dollar World's Fair is springing to life again after a winter of controversy.

The second and final season begins at 9 a.m. April 21.

The fair's builders and exhibitors are hoping for a surge of visitors many millions greater than during last year's somewhat disappointing attendance.

In the lake amusement area, financially hard hit the first season, cheaper, carnival-type attractions, such as skill games, will be added. One operator plans to open nine low-price kiddie rides.

RUMOR DANCING GIRLS

And there have been reports—unconfirmed by fair officials—that dancing girls are being considered to enliven night-time attendance.

A tremendous effort has been put forth in recent weeks to establish new exhibits, refurbish the old and to give the show an all-out promotion around the world.

Fair officials say new exhibits will total about $5 million, while another $2 million has been spent in revamping.

SOME SIGNS NOT ROSY

Exhibitors joined together in a mammoth publicity campaign.

The hope is to boost 1965 paid attendance to at least 37.5 million, as compared with last year's 27.1 million. Original estimates were for 40 million the first season and 30 million the second.

There are some indications that all may not be so rosy. With the opening only a month

Says U. S. Is Very Much In Moon Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says the United States is very much in the moon race.

Appearing Sunday on the CBS radio and television program "Face the Nation," Webb wouldn't predict that the United States is very much in the man on the moon.

He was optimistic, saying this country possesses the world's most powerful known rocket in the Saturn 5. He said the space program has been improved by billions of dollars of new equipment and bolder and bolder decisions.

away, the city's hotel association says advance reservations by individuals and families is running as much as 40 per cent behind last year in some cases.

5 BANKERS QUIT

There is disagreement as to whether the winter's controversies over the fair's finances and management tended to discourage attendance by people planning their first visit.

The wrangling during the winter had little to do with the content of the fair. It stemmed largely from the fact that receipts weren't as high as expected.

Five leading bankers quit the finance committee and there were demands for the replacement of Robert Moses, fair president, a master builder of state public works but also a man given to getting into controversy. In the end, his critics didn't have the power to oust him.

While the fair corporation is $17.5 million in the hole, Moses has stated without equivocation that it will wind up making a profit though a smaller one than anticipated.

Cheese, Dairy Products Are Important To Lenten Meals

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Extension Home Economist

Make cheese and other dairy products an important part of your family meals, during the Lenten season and all through the year.

Whether served at breakfast, lunch, dinner, or between meals, all cheeses, made from whole or skim milk provide high-quality protein, which makes cheese a good meat alternate.

Lasagna is an excellent main dish. Mozzarella, Parmesan, and Ricotta cheeses give lasagna its characteristic bubbliness and goodness. The American version often substitutes cottage cheese for Ricotta, and this makes a delicious main dish.

At another meal, serve cheese sauce on a vegetable, such as broccoli. Besides making the vegetable more tasty, the cheese sauce adds protein to your meal.

CHEESE IN SALAD

Use cheese as part of a salad. You may use cottage cheese as a salad ingredient or in the salad dressing for a mixed vegetable salad. Cubes of American or Cheddar cheese are also good on a tossed salad, and will add protein to a meal when the main dish is low in this nutrient.

An easy-to-prepare dessert that is a fitting climax to many meals is cheese and fruit. You may serve a cheese and fruit dessert that features just one or two kinds of cheese or you may serve a cheese tray that allows each person to select the cheese he prefers.

DUST CATCHERS

Your attic and basement may yield long-forgotten treasures that could add new interest to your home. A lovely old stoneware piece of pottery or an earthenware crock can make a handsome container for a plant or an arrangement of winter forced forsythia.

A well-worn wooden spoon can resume its usefulness in your kitchen. Instead of storing it in a drawer, hang the spoon on the kitchen wall so you can enjoy its shape and the color it has absorbed from stirring apple butter or corn meal mush in the past. Old wooden butter paddles and scoops are still usable and attractive to hang on the kitchen wall handy for use.

WOODEN DECOR

Your husband may still have an old wooden duck decoy. Clean and refinish this collector's item and place it in the family den or office as a piece of sculpture. Do not destroy the decoy's value or beauty by making it into a lamp base.

An old coffee grinder cleaned and refinished can be put into active use in your kitchen. Place it on an open shelf handy for use and for the family to enjoy its shape. Whenever you wish, surprise your family with coffee made from freshly ground coffee beans.

When discovered and allowed to regain their original use, many other items can become functional and attractive accessories.

FAMILY DEMOCRACY

Practicing democratic living in the home is one answer to family growth together. Also, it aids family members in following a path that is more meaningful to everyone.

A democratic family living plan bases itself on belief in each person's worth, dignity, integrity, and creative ability. It's also based on each person's willingness to cooperate with other family members.

CBS GOES INTO SLIM LEAD IN NEW RATINGS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The saw Nielsen ratings race among the three major networks continues with CBS taking an eye-level lead for the two-week period ending March 7.

The totals, announced Monday, gave CBS a rating of 20.8, with NBC second with 20.7. ABC pulled up the rear with 19.4. CBS received a big boost from the enormous rating piled up by its musical special, "Cinderella," on Feb. 22.

Top 10 programs during the two weeks were: Cinderella, Bonanza, Gomer Pyle, Be-may not be the quickest way to get things done. It calls for time and patience and the willingness to give and take, but it results in better cooperation, more satisfaction, and growth for everyone.

To help build family democracy in decision making, begin with simple problems and make one decision at a time. Try to have fun in the process of doing. Be aware of people's feelings, but avoid meaningless arguments. Remember that everyone has good ideas. Another guide is not to take yourselves too seriously.

Seek 'Bald Man' In Rape Of Child

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Police were looking for a man described as "bald-headed" in connection with the abduction and rape of an 11-year-old Amish girl.

The girl, whose name was withheld, was abducted Monday by a man who stopped her on her way home from school at nearby Kirkwood, police said. The girl was taken to West Grove Hospital in Chester County for surgery.

A farmer, Harry F. Shanck of Quarryville, Route 2, found the girl, wandering in shock, on a road near his home.

HOPE TO TRACE ORIGIN OF SIX LETHAL BOMBS

By JOE ZELLNER
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Authorities hoped today that special laboratory reports from Washington would provide a lead in an intensive probe of the potent dynamite bombs that didn't go off.

Officials in this Southern steel city which has a long history of bombings put every available officer on the all-out probe of the six deadly homemade bombs found in predominantly Negro neighborhoods since Sunday morning.

Several of the bombs were sent to Washington for examination at FBI laboratories. Capt. Frank House, in charge of the officers assigned fulltime to the investigation, said preliminary reports were expected from Washington sometime today.

INTERVIEW NEIGHBORS

House said several officers were conducting door-to-door interviews with residents within two blocks in each direction from the locations where bombs were found.

All six bombs were found in a four-mile radius of northwest Birmingham where four Negro girls died in a blast at the 16th Street Baptist Church Sept. 15, 1956.

There have been more than 40 racial bombings in Birmingham since World War II — and no convictions.

Complicating officers' efforts Monday were bomb threats at four high schools. Searches turned up nothing. In addition, an explosion at nearby Bessemer, the scene of recent labor friction, ripped away the base of a utility pole near a clay products plant Monday night.

STATE OFFERS REWARD

Sheriff Mel Bailey said there was no indication that the Bessemer explosion had any connection with the bombs in Birmingham.

A reward fund started on a $1,000 donation by Gov. George C. Wallace — the maximum the state can provide under law — rose to $3,000 with another $1,000 contribution from Birmingham's two newspapers, the News and Post-Herald, and a like amount from the Downtown Action Committee, a citizens group.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said police have no suspects. "Everybody on the force is working on it," he said.

FORMER MAYOR FOUND GUILTY

READING, Pa. (AP)—Former Reading Mayor John C. Kubacki and two convicted gamblers have been found guilty of extortion and conspiracy in a case involving the operator of a bawdy house.

Kubacki, Abe Minker and Benny Bonanno were convicted Monday by a Berks County court jury of six men and six women, which took just one hour to deliberate.

Judge Warren K. Hess gave the three 15 days to appeal the conviction.

The trio was accused of extortion in connection with Mrs. Angeline Wilkerson of Reading, who had been convicted of operating a bawdy house. Kubacki, Democratic mayor from 1960 to 1964, and Minker were previously convicted in another extortion case involving the sale of parking meters to the city.

Kubacki is presently out on bail and Minker is serving a sentence on a federal gambling charge.

Bonanno is free on bail on a federal gambling charge.

WEATHER GOOD FOR MOUNTAIN CLIMB BY RFK

By DALE NELSON
WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP)—Cheered by forecasts of continued good weather, the Mt. Kennedy climbing party faced today the first step in the ascent of the 13,900-foot mountain, highest unclimbed peak in North America.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and the other expedition members spent the night at a base camp on Hyannis Port Glacier, which they named after Kennedy's arrival Monday afternoon. The Kennedy family has a home at Hyannis Port, Mass.

The climbers plan to reach a second base camp and spend the night after their first day up the mountain, named by the Canadian government for the senator's slain brother, President John F. Kennedy.

SUN WAS SHINING

The sun was shining brightly as the party flew to the camp from Whitehorse in a Royal Canadian Air Force rescue helicopter. The forecaster at the Canadian Department of Transport's weather office summed up the weather thus: "They hit it pretty lucky."

The weather office said the wind is not expected to exceed 20-30 miles an hour, and the temperature should not be below zero.

James W. Whitaker of Seattle, Wash., leader of the expedition, and the first American to scale Mt. Everest, had predicted they might encounter fierce wind and temperature of around 40 below zero.

Whittaker has said the party could be back in two or three days if the weather is good.

GOP TOO LATE ON HEALTH BILL

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP)—U.S. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., says he doesn't believe Republicans in Congress will have much influence on legislation being considered to provide health care for the elderly.

Addressing a public forum program of the Greater Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce, Schweiker said Monday night there were not enough Republicans in Congress to shape the legislation. The Montgomery County congressman sponsored one of the health care bills now before the House Ways and Means Committee, but he gave it little chance at passage.

"We are too late," he said. "Two years ago it might have been possible for Republicans to have written a good bill with the help of Southern Democratic congressmen. Now if all Republican congressmen could agree on one plan and if we could get the votes of half the Southern Democratic congressmen, and both of these are unlikely, we would still be 20 votes short of passage."

Wives Of 2 Astronauts Suffer In Silent Agony During 2-Man Space Trip

By ROBERT HEARD
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two wives faced hours of silent agony today while the world — watching just outside their window sills — helps them sweat out America's first two-man space flight.

The clutching fear any woman would feel in such circumstances must go unvoiced by Betty Grissom and Barbara Young because their children have a day off from school.

Photographers, reporters and radio and television crews converged on the neighborhood of Timber Cove, a residential area studded with oak and pine trees near the Manned Spacecraft Center.

LIVE NEARBY
Behind the orange door of a white brick home live the wife and children of Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom.

Behind another door not far away live the wife and children of Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young.

An MSC spokesman predicted that they would be the first astronauts' families to come out of seclusion and follow a flight from a scientific center.

It is only a three-mile drive to the new $110-million Mission Control Center.

Mrs. Young's children, Sandra, 7, and John Jr., 6, are too young to comprehend fully the Gemini project which has kept their father away from home for all but 10 days in the last 10 months.

Mrs. Grissom's children, Scott, 14, and Mark, 11, think a lot of dad, but their hero is said to be race car driver A. J. Foyt of Houston.

Mrs. Grissom saved hundreds of trading stamps for pasting into books today.

Mrs. Young had not disclosed

what she would do to make the time pass.

Mrs. Grissom is a brown-haired, soft-spoken daughter of Claude Moore of Mitchell, Ind. She had her first date with Grissom when she was 14.

Mrs. Young is slightly freckled and has an enthusiastic smile. She is the former Barbara White of Savannah, Ga. Her husband has described her as "a good Navy wife."

She is a biking fan, as are the other members of the family. They have four bicycles.

Court Denies Move To Drop Clients

CHICAGO (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman has denied, without comment, the motion of two lawyers to withdraw as defense counsel for two brothers accused of mail fraud in the promotion of krebiozen.

The controversial drug is taken by some cancer patients.

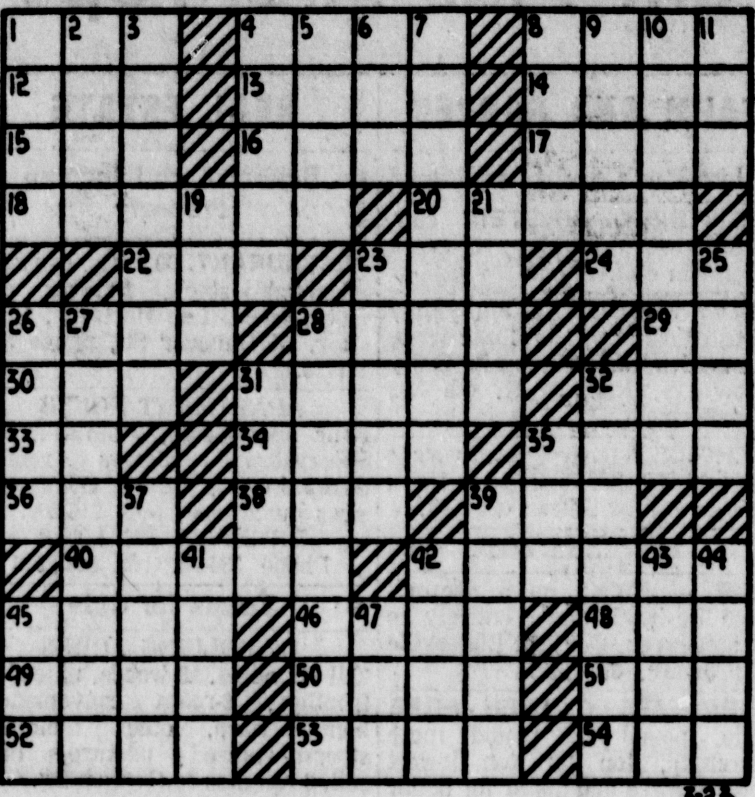

Milton A. Bass and Solomon H. Briend, of New York, had asked for permission to withdraw because of what they said was an incompatible attorney-client relationship.

They were defending Dr. Steven Durovic, 59, discoverer of krebiozen and his brother, Marko, 64, a lawyer.

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill aimed at allowing third to eighth class counties to allocate funds in support of the state's Project 70 program is in position for a final vote next week in the House.

The House Committee on Counties sent the bill to the floor Monday without amendment, starting the measure rolling.

Find Miner's Body Beneath Debris

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP) — The body of a miner was found early today deep in a coal mine inside a Central Pennsylvania mountain, ending an around-the-clock rescue effort since last Saturday.

Rescue crews, working in six-hour shifts without pause since two miners were trapped by falling debris Saturday morning, pulled to the surface from the bottom of a 30-foot sump the body of Anthony Rompolski, about 38, of Mount Carmel.

The accident killed the other miner, Michael Keninitz, 73, of Kulpmont, Pa.

Some 75 rescue workers began digging into a gangway filled with mud, water and debris Monday. Officials were still trying to determine what caused the tons of muck and debris to pour into the mine.

CIVIL RIGHTS CASES MOVED

MOSS POINT, Miss. (AP)—The cases of 26 civil rights demonstrators, including students from Bryn Mawr College and Pennsylvania State University, have been transferred to federal district court in Biloxi.

The three white persons and 23 Negroes, arrested for holding a protest at a Negro high school on March 10, had been set for hearing in Moss Point Monday. All have been free on bonds of $750 since March 15.

Some were charged with refusal to obey police orders and some with resisting arrest and trespassing.

The three white persons are Mary Larson, 22, of Hartford, Conn., Nancy Sours, 21, a Bryn Mawr student from Oakton, Va., and Paul Shanahan, a Penn State sophomore from Wilmington, Del.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The state resumes today an investigation of illegal rebates in the milk industry.

Simon K. Uhl, a former Milk Control Commission chairman, said Monday that he was served a subpoena at his Somerset law office ordering him to appear at the hearing here.

It was expected that Uhl will be asked to explain charges made by earlier witnesses that he and other former commission officials knew of rebate practices but failed to act.

employed in the mental health institutions, the governor said.

"This is the most important step forward for mental health personnel in state employment in decades," Scranton said.

In addition, he said, the administration is recommending that the legislature appropriate adequate funds for the planning staff in the office of the commissioner of mental health.

"In this year's budget we have requested an additional $4.5 million to raise salaries in the mental health institutions. This is the largest such increase ever requested," the governor said.

Boy With Matches Set Fatal Blaze

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Daw, 6, admitted he was playing with matches just before the fire in his home Saturday in which his sister and two brothers were killed, acting fire marshal Joseph Doyle says.

Doyle said Monday the boy told the story upon questioning by deputy fire marshal Lt. James Leonard.

He said the boy told them he found a box of matches, struck one and dropped it behind a foam rubber couch on the enclosed front porch of the home.

Heavy smoke came up, followed quickly by flames. Trapped and killed in the blaze were John's sister, Sandra, 5, and two brothers, Eric, 3, and David, 18 months.

John and his mother, Jean, 27, were rescued. The father, patrolman Frew Daw, was on duty at the time.

Alabama has an area of 51,078 square miles.

SCRANTON IS SPEAKER FOR HEALTH UNIT

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton told some 1,500 persons today the state is experiencing a "renaissance" in treating mental health and mental retardation.

The governor spoke to a meeting on mental health sponsored by the Council for Human Services in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Mental Health Association for Retarded Children. Scranton in prepared remarks cited what he called "three practical items of major importance" which he said deserved support.

3 MAJOR STEPS
First, he said was the completion of the action outlined in the Civil Service Act of 1963. Through the act, about 21,000 state employees have been added to civil service for the first time. About 11,000 of them are

COUNTY BOARD ASKS DELAY ON OCCUPATIONAL LEVY CUTOFF

The Adams County Board of School Directors at its March meeting Monday evening voted unanimously to ask the county commissioners to postpone for a year their announced plans to discontinue the occupational assessments which most school districts use as the basis for an occupation tax for school purposes.

The letter to the commissioners will point out that the school district reorganization, scheduled by state law for July 1, 1966, would be greatly complicated if a new tax structure should have to be developed in connection with that reorganization.

Members of the county school board pointed out that districts currently levying occupation taxes likely will continue to do so in the budgets coming up this spring for the 1965-66 school year. Letters from the commissioners' office have indicated that will be the last year the county will provide occupational assessments for the school districts.

REVISE FORMER PLAN

A one-year extension by the county commissioners would "greatly facilitate" the already complicated task of school reorganization, school board members pointed out.

In another major action, the county board Monday evening voted unanimously to submit to the state Board of Vocational Education a revised plan for designation of all of Adams County as an attendance area for a technical school.

Several months ago the County Board sent a similar request to Harrisburg and it was returned for reconsideration because some state records showed Fairfield had previously been assigned on a state plan to Franklin County for technical school purposes. A letter read to the County Board Monday evening from the state gave notice that Fairfield now has been released for inclusion in the Adams County plan.

The revised plan agreed upon Monday evening does not include Conewago Twp. and McSherrytown borough which were recent-

MARKETING AGREEMENT IS ARGUED

Approximately 65 cherry growers from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia Monday heard the pros and cons of a proposed marketing agreement and order designed to stabilize the price paid to growers in years of bumper crops.

Representatives of the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Marketing, with Will Roger, examiner, heard testimony of growers and processors at a hearing in the West Street Bank.

Appearing at the morning session were John B. Peters, Gardner, who read and explained the various sections of the proposed agreement; Thomas O. Oyler, Biglerville R. 1, grower, and Richard Trostel, a director of Great Lakes Cherry Producers Association. Proponents of the order maintain that the proposal could eliminate depressed prices to growers in years of bumper harvests by setting aside a portion of the processed crop for later marketing.

OPPOSE PROPOSAL

Opposing the proposal were Pet Milk Co., Musselman Division, National Canners Association and Zero Packing Co., Winchester, Va. Sheldon Funk, Berks County grower, also testified in opposition.

Pet Milk maintained at the hearings that "based on existing economic and marketing conditions, we believe that a marketing agreement and order tends to keep the marginal grower in business and offers no solution at the present time in establishing a balance between supply and demand." The firm questioned the

Directors Called To Special Session

Directors on the 14-member Joint School committee of the Gettysburg Joint School Board received notices today of a "most important meeting" of the committee to be held in the conference room of the senior high school Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The notice continues: "The teacher-curriculum committee will have met earlier in the week and undoubtedly will have some recommendations to make. Other items that might properly come before the meeting may also be discussed."

The notices were sent by Douglas D. Houston, secretary and business manager.

WOMAN IS OVERCOME BY SMOKE

Mrs. James W. Muller, 246 E. Middle St., was overcome by smoke Monday night while attempting to battle a fire in a chair in a third-floor bedroom at her home.

Gettysburg firemen arrived to find Mrs. Muller attempting to extinguish the blaze. Moments later she became unconscious and was removed by firemen to their ambulance where oxygen was administered and she soon revived.

Firemen removed three small children from their beds in second-floor rooms of the home. Firemen said the children, asleep in a smoke-filled room, seemed none the worse for the smoke and believed that in their beds they were below the most of the smoke.

The blaze had spread from the chair to papers and had charred a wall when firemen arrived. They quickly extinguished the blaze and said damage was "slight."

Mrs. Muller told firemen that the third-floor bedroom was used by an elder daughter. It was believed that a cigarette may have fallen onto the chair and smoldered for a time before causing the blaze.

Hold Military Rites For Clarence Miller

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Bender Funeral Home for Clarence P. Miller, 84, formerly of Toronto, Canada, a retired shoe company treasurer, who died Thursday at the Pape Convalescent Home. The Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser officiated. The pallbearers were Robert DeHaven, Edward Basler, Timothy Farrell, Charles Weaver, Charles Mayhall and W. H. Armer.

Military rites were conducted in Evergreen Cemetery. Members of the firing squad were Edward Kerrigan, William Orner and Max Sherman, VFW. The honor guard was comprised of Robert W. Fox, James Cole, Kenneth Cole and Robert E. Fox, Albert J. Lentz Post, American Legion. Steven Bream was bugler.

Marchers Face Dangerous Section Of Highway Today

By ROSS HAGEN
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — The civil rights march, trimmed now to 300 persons, moves on today over the most forbidding section of its terrain, a two-lane highway through swampy, rural Lowndes County.

Thousands of marchers left Selma Sunday, but the number was cut Monday at the end of a four-lane portion of well-traveled U.S. 80 as directed by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The number will increase for the final leg of the 50-mile trek into Montgomery, when the highway becomes four lanes again. By order of the judge, the marchers must reach the Capitol building by 4 p.m. Thursday.

ALMOST HALFWAY

The 300 marchers were almost to the halfway point when they bedded down under big tents in a pasture near the Big Swamp of Lowndes County, a

MAY BE APPEAL FROM 1-UNIT SCHOOL PLAN, BOARD TOLD

The Adams County Board of School Directors was told Monday evening at its March meeting that "every effort will be made to enter a protest" to the school reorganization plan ordered for the county last week by the state Board of Education.

The message came from Thomas O. Oyler, member of the Franklin Twp. School Board, and was delivered by Mrs. Arthur E. Rice, a member of the Gettysburg Area School Board. She said she had been asked by Mr. Oyler to make that announcement.

The announcement came at the close of nearly an hour and a half of discussion between county school officials and a nine-member delegation from the Gettysburg schools. The group included three high school teachers and six school directors.

HEAR STATE ORDERS

The county board is under orders from the state to implement the state board's order to reorganize the schools of the county into a single district with the exception of Conewago Twp. and McSherrytown which have been assigned to Hanover under the state order.

Questions from members of the delegation were aimed at the state school plan for the county, how it will operate, why it was adopted and indicated the group was seeking guidance on how it might be appealed.

The delegation heard County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson read the official state board orders upholding appeals taken from the six-unit county plan adopted last May on a 3-2 vote in which the appeals were upheld with the exception of that of McSherrytown.

SUCCESS IN DOUBT

Supt. Coulson said that on the basis of consultation with Attorney Eugene Hartman, solicitor to the county board, he felt the county board could not take an appeal, if it wanted to, but such appeals would have to come from school districts.

"There might be a basis for an appeal but there might also be doubt about its validity or its success," he said.

He added later in the discussion that the only grounds on which an appeal could be taken would seem to be some "irregularity" on the part of the state board or an attack on the constitutionality of the school reorganization law.

"CAN'T HELP YOU"

Discussion indicated the authority of the state board may be challenged especially with regard to its power to move school districts across county lines without the assent of the county losing them. Adams County never consented to the removal of McSherrytown and Conewago Twp. although that was the purpose of Conewago's appeal.

President Dean Asquith noted that any appeal would have to be taken in Dauphin County court and told the delegation: "The county board can't do anything for you. I don't like the decision and I'll join my district if it takes an appeal. I think there are many things below the surface in this case." He did not

Two Parked Autos Are Robbed Here

Eugene Phiel, New Oxford R. 2, Monday reported to borough police that while his car was parked at the Warner Hospital parking lot someone removed from its glove compartment the 1964 owner's card in a leather case, a tire gauge, a first aid kit, a manicure set, binoculars, sun glasses, pliers, a screw driver set and case and a feeler gauge. The value of the articles was estimated at $40.

Kenneth Lerew, Biglerville, reported to borough police Monday night that between 7 and 8 o'clock that evening, while his car was parked near the Rea and Derick Store, two spinner hub caps were stolen from the auto.

JURY BOOSTS DAMAGE GRANT TO CARBAUGHS

An Adams County jury this morning awarded Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Carbaugh, Gettysburg R. 1, $35,000 as damages caused to their Cumberland Twp. property by the relocation of Route 15.

The jury, headed by Arthur R. Buehler, New Oxford, foreman, retired at 9:53 this morning to consider its verdict, and returned at 10:58. The jury award of $35,000 also provides that the Commonwealth pay interest on the amount from the time of the taking of the land in December, 1961.

The trial was on the appeal from the report of viewers in the eminent domain action of Harry E. and Mary E. Carbaugh, Gettysburg R. 1, against the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

EVIDENCE ON MONDAY

Appeal was taken from the report of the board of view after the court appointed board had set the damages at $21,750. The suit was one of a number that have been in the local court as a result of the relocation of the road.

All testimony in the case was submitted Monday. This morning the jury heard the charge by Judge W. C. Sheely, then retired to begin consideration of its verdict.

Mr. Carbaugh in his testimony said damages to his property totaled $42,000. He estimated the value of his 219-acre farm along the Taneytown Rd. in Cumberland Twp. at $95,000 before part of his land was taken for the new Rt. 15 and its value afterward at $33,000. Mrs. Carbaugh agreed to the figures.

LOST FRONTAGE

The state took 13 acres from the Carbaugh farm, including the Carbaughs' 10-room house and cut about 13 acres off from the rest of the farm. In addition, the work of raising the Taneytown Rd. to bridge over the new Rt. 15 placed the barn below the level of the road and drains from the new road construction flowed into the barnyard. Carbaugh said he could not reach parts of his barn from outside because of the "hole" in which it was placed, and had to back machinery into

ENSEMBLE TO GIVE CONCERT

The 50-piece Indiana State College wind ensemble will present a free public concert Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Biglerville High School auditorium under auspices of the Biglerville High School Band.

The Indiana band, on its two-day tour, will also present programs at Bermudian Springs, Boiling Springs and Carlisle on Thursday. Wednesday evening's public concert at Biglerville High School will mark the first time that the Indiana College band has performed in this area.

Biglerville students will host the band to an evening meal Wednesday at the Biglerville High School cafeteria and then the bandmen will be guests at the homes of the Biglerville students for the evening and next morning's breakfast.

Biglerville band officials said they were sponsoring the concert "as a token of appreciation to the public for its support of the band uniform project."

The 50-member wind ensemble is becoming known as one of the outstanding college concert bands in Pennsylvania. Its program will include numbers by Bach, Mendelssohn, Hammerstein, Goldman and Sousa.

MISS JACKSON CHOSEN BY AFS TO GO ABROAD

Miss Sally Jackson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, Gettysburg R. 3, has been selected by the national American Field Service as the finalist from the Gettysburg chapter to be given first consideration for placement abroad next summer.

That announcement was made at a meeting of the local AFS committee Monday evening at the senior high school building. Mrs. Harry Biesecker, committee chairman, presided.

Mrs. Robert Codori, social chairman, advanced plans for the International Day to be held at the high school Thursday, April 21. Twenty-nine AFS foreign students from surrounding areas have been invited with their chaperones. Lunch will be provided at the high school. Following that, the foreign students will entertain at a high school assembly at 1:30 p.m. and a junior high school assembly at 2:30.

EXPECT 100 AT DINNER

Both of these assemblies will be open to the community. In the late afternoon, the students will be taken on a bus tour of the Battlefield and then to the Holiday Motel where the local committee will provide a covered dish supper. Entertainment by Gettysburg High School students will end the day.

The C. H. Musselman Co. will donate applesauce for the dinner. It is expected that over 100 people will attend the dinner, in-

JUNE 9 SET FOR OPENING PLAYGROUNDS

Gettysburg's playground season will open June 9 and close August 20, the local Recreation Board decided at its meeting Monday night in its office in the junior high school building.

Last month the board had appointed Howard Shoemaker as playground supervisor for the summer, and Monday night additional members of the summer staff were chosen. At the conclusion of Monday's meeting there were still several positions to be filled, with the board expected to act on those appointments next month. Several candidates for the posts have not yet been interviewed by Recreation Director Ray Thompson and the board decided that "in all fairness" every applicant should be interviewed before the playground staff is completed.

Among the staff members named Monday were Gareth Biser as "night supervisor" to have general charge of evening programs; Robert Zeigler, music director; Don Bickel and Don Young, baseball directors; Merrill Eckhart and Earl Little, basketball directors; Kathleen Trostle, girls' softball director.

OTHERS CHOSEN

Named to serve at the tot lots were, Recreation Park, Elsa Heimerer and Paula Lupp; Eisenhower, Cynthia Rosenberger. Named as playground staff were, Eisenhower, John Maloney, Ila Bowers and Terry Fox; Keffauver, Patrick Kelly, Jane Elizabeth Roth and Merrill Eckhart; Recreation Park, Richard Allison, Ray Reider, Esther Sanders and Don Young.

Those selected for two positions will work part-time at each, and in addition some members of the staff will work only half days. Recreation Director Thompson said the cost for the summer help will be $12,902, if the playgrounds operate each day scheduled. Of that amount about one half will be paid by the state and half will be paid by the borough.

DISCUSS LIGHTS

Much of the meeting was devoted to discussion of plans for improvement to the lighting system.

Astronauts Guide 165-Ton Projectile Into Varied Maneuvers For First Time In History; Parachute Safely In Atlantic At 2:18 p.m.

Maj. Virgil "Gus" Grissom, left, command pilot, and his copilot, Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young, are shown in their flight suits shortly before they boarded their spacecraft this morning. They were rocketed into orbit at 9:24 a.m. from Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP Wirephoto)

The two astronauts parachuted safely into the Atlantic Ocean near Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas at 2:18 o'clock this afternoon. The U. S. carrier, Intrepid, and a Coast Guard cutter, Diligence, were racing to the recovery area.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young guided their spaceship Molly Brown into a new orbital path today and scored a big first in the space race.

The mission control center at Cape Kennedy called the successful maneuver, executed high over Texas during the first of three planned orbits, a "historic" one.

Grissom, 38, an Air Force major and the first man to rocket twice into space, operated the jets that put the capsule into a nearly circular orbit ranging from 97 to 105 miles high.

A Titan 2 rocket had originally launched the craft, officially called Gemini 3, into an orbit with a high point of 140 miles and a low of 100 miles.

Ability to maneuver a spacecraft is essential before space rendezvous — and flight onward to the moon — can be accomplished.

LIKE TEST PILOTS

Like test pilots taking a high-powered aircraft through a trial run, Grissom and Young gave their craft a thorough shake-down in a rehearsal for longer flights and eventual rendezvous missions. A series of 10 Gemini flights will be followed by the Apollo moon program.

The Molly Brown was named by the astronauts after the musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," — an allusion to Grissom's first spaceship, which sank in the Atlantic after return from a suborbital flight.

While President Johnson and millions more watched on television, the Titan thundered into the skies at 9:24 a.m.

GET GREEN LIGHT

Before the first orbit was completed, the mission control center gave the green light for a second go-round and the astronauts accepted the message with pleasure. Midway through the second orbit, they were given the okay for a third.

This would bring them down as planned to a parachute landing in the Atlantic 70 miles northeast of Grand Turk Island, where recovery ships and planes awaited them.

The drop in orbital altitude was not a sudden thing. As the thruster jets fired for 77 seconds, the spacecraft moved gradually into its new path as it sailed over Georgia at about 17,400 miles an hour.

NEW MANEUVER

Midway through the second orbit Grissom conducted another space craft maneuver which will be important to future rendezvous flights. He twisted the capsule around 90 degrees so it was flying sideways and pointing south.

Then he fired his forward jets for 15 seconds to shoot the craft onto an orbital path about one and a half miles south of the original course. Then he quickly turned the space craft around 180 degrees and executed a number of rapid jet firings to simulate action which might have to be taken as a spacecraft approaches a target satellite on a rendezvous mission.

In another space first, the U.S. Syncom 2 communications satellite was used to relay information from the Molly Brown to the ground tracking network while the spacecraft flew above the Indian Ocean on the second orbit.

Only three minor problems developed in this first flight by a steerable spacecraft. Two involved a secondary electronic system associated with a thruster jet and a slight pressure drop in a fuel system. Both problems corrected themselves.

The other involved the blood pressure cuff on Grissom's arm which he said he was unable to operate.

Polio Authority Will Speak Here

The public is invited to attend the talk this evening at 8 o'clock in Weidensall Hall on the Gettysburg College Campus by Dr. David Bodian, professor of anatomy at Johns Hopkins, who will speak on "The Brain and Polio — A Biological Detective Story." Dr. Bodian, who has won many awards for his work in infantile paralysis is listed in the "Polio Hall of Fame" at the Warm Springs, Ga. Foundation honoring men and women outstanding in that field.

CD DIRECTOR OF COUNTY TO JOIN "SIT IN"

Fourteen persons from York County, including two residents of Gettysburg, have volunteered to spend 36 continuous hours in a fallout shelter area living on water, crackers and a few pieces of candy and sharing the large area with about 75 or 80 other persons.

The shelter living is the third phase of a civil defense course started this week by two specialists in CD training from Pennsylvania State University.

The project as explained by York CD Director Jack Gray will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 2, when the volunteers, also from Lebanon, Lancaster, Chambersburg, Carlisle and Harrisburg areas, will begin the 36-hour sit-out in the basement of the Harrisburg YWCA.

Viet Cong Again Escapes Aerial Attack On Air Base; Blame Delay For Tip-Offs

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jets and Vietnamese planes pounded a Viet Cong base just west of the strike zone. It was empty by the time cleanup crews got there.

A map-reading error by the Vietnamese air force resulted in two companies of rangers being dropped about 2 1/2 miles from their landing zone.

Several blood trails were found in the area where the jets and propeller-driven Skyraiders struck. One suspected Viet Cong was captured without a weapon on the outer fringe of the operational area.

The Vietnamese military, under heavy pressure from Saigon to come up with a favorable report, announced that an estimated 50 Communists had been killed. No bodies were found.

Planning for the attack, 10 miles south of Da Nang, began Friday after intelligence reports that 1,200 Viet Cong were in a combined regimental headquarters and training camp in two adjacent valleys near Dong Nghe.

PARK WILL BE GREAT ASSET IN THE FUTURE

The natural beauty of the Gettysburg Battlefield will mean more to this community in 50 years than it does today, Gettysburg National Park Superintendent Kittridge Wing told members of the local Lions Club Monday evening in an after dinner talk at the Varsity Diner.

"The Battlefield forms a buffer zone to hold off urbanization. Gettysburg is fortunate to have this green belt buffer area around it. Besides its natural beauty, it offers a place for many types of outdoor recreation and that asset will become more appreciated in years to come," the park superintendent said.

He noted that one of the most important facts about the battlefield is that it brings two million visitors to the community each year. "Gettysburg is a town of distinction and is favorably known around the world. The battlefield and its memory will never dim," he predicted and contrasted Gettysburg with Braddock, Pa., a town with a battlefield that was not preserved and developed and has now disappeared in the spread of modern community development.

He concluded his talk with quo-

STUDENT SAYS SPANISH LIKE FRANCO REGIME

Francisco Franco and Finnish suanas were both described as "good" in talks to the Rotary Club Monday evening in the YWCA.

Speakers at the meeting were the two Foreign Exchange Students from Gettysburg, High School, Jose Barrona, of Valencia, Spain, and Marina Repo, of Helsinki, Finland.

Barrona in speaking of the peoples, customs, industry and government of Spain told the group "For you who love democracy and free government it is hard to understand Franco's government. We Spanish people are practical. We tried a republic twice and it would not work for us, so we do not want it. We feel Franco is the best thing that has happened to Spain. Since 1939 the growth of Spain has been terrific. We do not have so high a standard of living as the United States, but we have advanced greatly and the majority of people in Spain feel that Franco is a good man. But the government is not Franco alone. We have a parliament of 500 elected by the people and 100 by Franco. He has some of the facets of a dictator. He has been 30 years in power, but he is not a dictator in the sense many think."

LIFE IN FINLAND

Miss Repo in her review of life in Finland held the suana is the thing she misses most. Describing the Finn's custom of taking baths "at 200 degrees" and then plunging into cold water or snow, termed the suana, she said, they are not a necessity but a luxury. For cleanliness Finns take baths in their tub at home, just as you do. But for relaxation the suana bath is really wonderful. I think they help ward off disease. This winter everybody around here had a cold, but I did not catch one."

Finland is "30 percent woodland, mostly evergreens," and so "it was fascinating to be in Pennsylvania last fall to see trees change to beautiful colors."

Miss Repo said, "Finland is beautiful, a land about the size of Pennsylvania with many lakes. More than 10 percent of the country is water." Winters are cold "but they don't feel as cold as Pennsylvania winters, even though the temperature is far lower." Winter is "mostly night" with the day reducing to three hours in the southern part of Finland and "nothing at all" in the northern. With the snow and the night "skiing is the national sport. Children learn to ski when they learn to walk." Conversely, "The summer days are long. In the north the sun never sets. And so swimming is the second great sport."

President C. William Harbaugh presided at the meeting. Dr. Harold Dunkelberger and Dr. Kenneth Smoke led group singing. Dr. Carroll Voss introduced Miss N. Louise Ramer, guidance counselor at the local high school, who heads the American Field Service exchange student program in Gettysburg. Shelby Roberts introduced Barrona.

REPORT MINOR MISHAPS HERE

Clarence Waybright, Gettysburg R. 2, reported to borough police this morning at 9:40 that while he was absent from his Mason-Dixon Dairy truck on E. Middle St. making a delivery, the truck drifted back and struck the left front fender of a parked car owned by Russell Deaneer, Gettysburg R. 5, causing $10 damage to the car.

Jane Brashears, rear of 99 Stein-where Ave., reported Monday afternoon to borough police that on Sunday morning while making a turn at Holiday Inn on Baltimore St. her car was in a slight accident with an auto operated by Bernard Rehmeier, 740 Highland Ave.

George Steinberger reported to borough police this morning at 7:30 that a parking meter was lying along the Mummasburg Rd. Police found it was one that had been removed from the second block of Baltimore St. The meter was undamaged.

It was incorrectly reported that the car of Joan Gastley, Gettysburg R. 5, struck an auto backing out of a parking space on Lincoln Square Saturday. Instead the car of Regina G. McIntire, 316 York St., backing out from a parked position on the square struck the front door and side of the Gastley auto.

GOING ON VACATION

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton is leaving today for a week's vacation in Salt Lake City and Denver until March 30, Jack L. Commy, press secretary, said today.

He will arrive in Los Angeles on March 30 where he will attend a luncheon the following day sponsored by the Committee of 100,000 Pennsylvanians for Economic Growth.

JOSEPH LUTZ HAS RESIGNED POSITION HERE

Paul Pitzer, Biglerville R. 1, president of the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association, today announced that the resignation, effective April 15, of Joseph Lutz, 203 Ewell Ave., an associate county agent in Adams County, resigned from the post to accept a position in the Product Information Department of Pfister Associated Growers, Aurora, Ill. He will report in Aurora to begin his duties April 20. His wife and three children plan to move to Aurora after the children have completed their current school year.

Lutz, a native of New Castle and a 1952 graduate of Pennsylvania State University, entered Agricultural Extension service in that year as an assistant county agent in Franklin County. He resigned there to serve with the Cumberland Valley Cooperative Association in Shippensburg until September, 1962, when he became assistant county agent and later associate county agent in Adams County.

During his three years here he served in the area of livestock, poultry and 4-H and was instrumental in the establishment of the South Central Pennsylvania Swine Producers' Association. With Pfister he will be engaged in preparing pictures and information on seed corn and seed sorghum produced by the concern, writing booklets, preparing film strips and recordings, etc., to be used in spreading information concerning the Pfister products.

JURY BOOSTS

the barn in order to get out again. He alleged that 2,100 feet of frontage of the farm along the Taneytown Rd. "disappeared" as a result of the changes in the highway.

DENIAL ON STAND

Mr. and Mrs. Carbaugh said that John Horton, right of way agent for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, had offered them $45,000. This he "categorically" denied from the witness stand.

William A. Bigham, local real estate broker, appearing for the Commonwealth, said he estimated the value of the Carbaugh farm before the taking of land at $39,493, while its value afterward would be $20,293, he said, or a loss of $19,200.

B. A. Wagner, York real estate broker, appearing for the Commonwealth, said the Carbaugh property was worth $44,000 before the taking and $25,500 afterward, for a loss of $18,500.

The jury which heard the case included Mrs. Elizabeth Bream, 310 N. Stratton St.; Mr. Buehler; Harry Cluck, Gettysburg R. 3; Donald W. Feaser, 144 Lumber St., Littlestown; Lewis Fox, 50 Rita Marie Ave., Littlestown; Bernard Glass, Hampton; Paul B. Knox, McSherrytown; Paul W. Kuhn, Aspers; Bernard J. Liversberger, Hanover R. 4; Ivan Rickrode, 82 Patrick St., Littlestown; Lois W. Smith, Gettysburg R. 1; Mildred E. Smith, Littlestown R. 2; Mary A. Stine, 9 Baltimore St. The list includes one alternate.

TAKE TESTIMONY

Additional testimony was taken Monday afternoon by the court in the appeal by Francis Light, formerly of Hanover, for a new trial in the murder charge against him. He was sentenced to the penitentiary in 1958 after a jury found him guilty of second degree murder in connection with the death of his wife from stab wounds. Light alleges his constitutional rights were denied him prior to the trial. Attorney Eugene R. Hartman, who represented Light by court appointment in the 1958 trial, was on the stand to give his version of events that occurred in connection with his representation of Light. Light had alleged that certain witnesses were not summoned to appear in his behalf. Attorney Hartman said that several of the witnesses Light wished to call were hearsay witnesses to events that had occurred long before the trial and that in his opinion their testimony would not have been allowed by the court. Hartman said other witnesses were character witnesses who refused to appear.

Hartman said that he had advised Light that it is best not to subpoena character witnesses who do not wish to appear. Hartman said he had met with Light following the trial and had discussed the possibility of an immediate appeal. He said he had told Light, however, that if a new trial were granted the jury might find a first degree verdict instead of the lighter verdict that had been brought. Light, Hartman said, at the time was "happy" about the outcome of the case and no appeal was taken. Light testified he could not recall those conversations with the attorney.

Attorney Edward B. Bulleit was permitted by the court to withdraw as counsel in the trespass action of William and Iva Johnson against Lincoln Square Corporation, trading as Hotel Gettysburg. Attorney Bulleit said that he had discovered he has a conflict of interests in the case and asked permission to withdraw.

FIVE STUDENTS EARN LICENSES

A class of five student pilots at Doersom Airport set a perfect record Tuesday in passing their flight tests for private pilot licenses. Donald X. Sullivan, airport operator, announced today.

Four of the students are Air Force ROTC students at Gettysburg College. The fifth is a private student from Hanover.

Sullivan said the flight test was administered by Don Juil, FAA Flight Examiner, Harrisburg, who commended Maj. Dewey Taylor, commander of the College Ground School, on the high average the four AFROTC applicants achieved on their written tests. Sullivan said three more AFROTC students are scheduled to take their flight tests next week.

AFROTC students who received their licenses are Cadets David Brubaker, Paul Harbison Jr., Warren Vose and Donald Christy. Donald Hertz, Hanover, was the fifth trainee to successfully pass the test.

The men received their flight training under John Hall and John Fitz, airport instructors.

The archbishop of Chicago underwent surgery Feb. 25 for removal of a malignant tumor the size of a large walnut.

DEATHS

William A. Withers

William Archie Withers, 80, Hanover, died at 11:30 p.m. Sunday at the Hanover Hospital, where he was a patient two weeks.

Mr. Withers was born in York, April 23, 1884, a son of the late Daniel H. and Emma Adams Withers. He retired nine years ago as an employee of the Eyster Weiser foundry, York. He was a member of Trinity United Church of Christ, Washington Camp 328, Patriotic Order Sons of America, and a 50-year member of Lodge 227, Loyal Order of Moose.

Surviving are his wife, Bessie Byers Withers; a son, Francis, Middletown; two grandchildren and a brother, Richard, Littlestown.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Bucher Funeral Home, Hanover, by the Rev. Dr. Howard E. Sheely, his pastor. Burial will be in Rest Haven Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Burket Shireman

Gravestone services for Burket Shireman, 78, Erie, a World War I veteran, who died Thursday at the Erie Veterans Hospital, will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Gettysburg National Cemetery.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, pastor of the First United Church of Christ, Carlisle, will officiate.

Daniel L. Blacksten

Daniel Lamar Blacksten, six-year-old son of Richard L. and R. Charlene Glass Blacksten, died Monday at his home near Boonsboro, Md.

He was born in Long Beach, Calif. Besides his parents, he leaves his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Blacksten, Linwood; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Margie Glass VanFossen, near Taneytown; a sister, Dale Victoria, and a brother, Douglas Lee, both at home.

Friends may call Wednesday evening at the New Windsor Funeral Home of D. D. Hartzler and Sons, where services will be Thursday at 1 p.m. They will be conducted by the Rev. James James Rowsey, pastor of St. James Brethren Church near Smithsburg.

1,150 NAMES STRICKEN OFF

Approximately 1,150 names have been purged from the rolls of Adams County voters as a result of the notices sent out several weeks ago to those who failed to vote for the last two years. The estimate was made by commissioner's clerks who found few returns from the approximately 1,500 notices sent the non-voters.

At this morning's meeting of the commissioners, bills totaling $1,016.80 were approved. A part of the morning was spent in discussing his assessment with a York Springs area land owner. The land owner came to check his assessments after his school board had alleged that he had failed to pay taxes on one of his properties and was considering charging him three years back taxes. The records showed that the property in question was included in the overall assessment listed for the man's properties.

According to the records at the commissioner's office the man had been assessed too high for properties he had previously owned and those were lowered when he purchased a new property. The resulting total assessment came out to the same figure as the assessment had been previously for the other properties.

BEGIN SERIES OF DIALOGUES AT FAIRFIELD

A new venture in dialogue preaching will be explored during the Fairfield Lenten services to be held in St. John's United Church of Christ.

A community pastor and a layman will engage in dialogue with members of the congregation invited to participate by raising questions or making comments. The overall theme of the services is "The Cross in Modern Life" with discussion on "my response to what Christ did on the cross and what it means for me."

On Wednesday the Rev. Gerhard Klaassen, pastor of the Fairfield Mennonite Church, and Robert Newman of Zion Lutheran Church will center the dialogue on the disciples, James and John, and the response they made to Christ.

On March 31 the Rev. Robert N. Paden, pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ, and Howard Musselman of the Mennonite Church will discuss the response of Judas and on April 7 the Rev. M. R. Hamsher, interim pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, and William Dick Jr. of Mt. Hope UMC Church will discuss the response of Peter.

On Sunday evenings during this series guest preachers will speak. On Sunday, April 11, in the Mennonite Church the drama group of the host church will make an appropriate presentation.

MISS JACKSON

PARK WILL BE

(Continued From Page 1) tations from President Johnson's address on national beauty and the importance of outdoor recreation areas and conservation of natural resources. Wing concluded by saying: "The people of Gettysburg have the distinction of being part-guardians of this national shrine which is an important portion of our national heritage."

Answering questions after his talk, Mr. Wing said the deer herd in the national park here probably numbers 300 to 400 and "it's too big." He added that studies are being made and there will probably be a program for trapping and shipping away some of the deer. He noted damage to crops of farms on the perimeter of the field as one reason for the move.

President S. M. Raffensperger presided at the meeting with more than 50 Lions and guests in attendance. Prof. Herman Stuepfle Jr. of the Seminary faculty was a guest and three Lions attended from Taneytown. David Blaser was named to represent the club in the county Mental Health Association. Meetings of the board of directors and several committees followed the club session.

Local electrician Stanley Hull met with the board to go over the proposed plans which the board hopes to complete over a period of five years, holding that the expense of increasing the number of lights, installing new wiring, etc., would be too great to be borne in one year.

Hull agreed to inspect the present lights and wiring at the softball field and determine what needs be done and the order in which it might be done over a five-year period. He is to report back to the board on his findings. Recreation Director Thompson reported the Moose plan to entertain one group of recreation bowlers April 24. The Optimist Club will entertain another group when the season ends.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Reporting "The most successful winter season so far," Thompson said some of the winter programs ended last week, others will be ending this week and the final program will wind up in April.

Thompson reported plans to replace a fence between the dugouts and the back stop on the Big Little League field and said construction of a number of new picnic tables to be placed at the park this summer is nearly completed.

A schedule was presented for dates when the high school will use the Recreation Park for baseball practice.

BURY J. M. STAMBAUGH

Funeral services for Jacob M. Stambaugh, 81, Taneytown, who died Saturday in the Hanover Hospital, Hanover, were held Monday afternoon at the C. A. Fuss and Son Funeral Home, with his pastor, Rev. Martin Case, officiating. Burial was made in Keysville Cemetery. Pallbearers were Maurice Moser, Robert Grimes, John Baumgardner, Theodore Newcomer, Herman Keefe, and Walter Hahn.

Girl Scout News

Cadet Troop 966 met Monday evening in the Presbyterian Church to make final arrangements for a weekend bus trip to Philadelphia and West Chester, where they will be overnight guests of the Cadette Troop led by Mrs. Donald Trone, formerly of Gettysburg. In Philadelphia they will visit the Aquarama, Adm. Dewey's Flagship, "The Olympia," Independence Hall, Elfreth Alley and other historical points. The troop will leave the church parking lot, E. High St., at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Members will contact their parents upon their return to Gettysburg Sunday afternoon. Accompanying the troop will be Mrs. Guy Crist, leader; Mrs. Richard Newsham, assistant leader, and Mrs. Paul Witt.

Industry's ability to strengthen the market system, stimulate market expansion and promote efficiency and protect competition under such an order.

The firm specifically took exception to expenses and assessments authorized to the committee; the possibility of unrealistic research or promotion of marketing, distribution and consumption of cherries; and the fact that "July 1 is too late to be of value to production in many areas." It recommends that June 1-15 would be more realistic dates to regulate volume.

Pet Milk further objected to the section concerned with grades, which, it said, makes no provision for natural causes which could change the quality of the crop from day to day; the possibility of undesirable storage of "set aside" stocks; variations in yields in certain areas and variances in production costs of processors.

OPPOSE ORDER

The company further enumerated objections that included the disposition of set-asides, the additional expenses incurred by the handler for reports and records which would add to production costs, invasion of privacy by regulatory agencies for confidential information.

In conclusion Pet Milk said: "We . . . oppose the agreement and order because we do not believe in its present form and at this time it is in the best interests of the successful cherry grower."

In the event that the secretary of agriculture approves the application for the marketing order, it will be submitted to a referendum vote of cherry growers, and processors presumably this spring.

TO FILE BRIEFS

Federal legislation requires at least two-thirds of the growers voting and processors who handle 51 percent of the tonnage must approve the order in such a referendum.

The local meeting is the last of four scheduled in the major cherry producing areas of eastern U. S. Previous hearings were held in Grand Rapids, Mich., Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and Rochester, N. Y.

Rogers advised that briefs must be in the hands of the department by April 5.

IN HANOVER ACCIDENT

A sedan driven by Catherine Baublitz, 69, York, and an auto operated by Beatrice H. Haverstick, 46, Abbottstown, collided in Hanover about 10:57 a.m. Sunday.

The Baublitz car was moving west on Hanover St. as the Haverstick sedan was traveling north on Baltimore, Hanover police reported. After the impact the Haverstick car spun and struck a parked car near the intersection, owned by N. G. Markle, Hanover, police said.

Damage was $300 to the Haverstick car and $25 each to the Baublitz and Markle autos, according to investigators.

LIST SPEAKER FOR LECTURES AT SEMINARY

Dr. Carl E. Braaten, assistant professor of systematic theology at the Maywood campus of the University of Chicago, will be the spring lecturer at the Lutheran Theological Seminary on Wednesday.

He will present two lectures entitled: "A Critical Look at the New Hermeneutic" and "The Lordship of Christ and the Modern Man." The first lecture will be at 10 a.m. in the old chapel in the administration building. The second lecture at 2 p.m. will be in the social room.

Born in St. Paul, Minn., Dr. Braaten completed his early schooling at St. Olaf College and did graduate study at the University of Minnesota and Lutheran Seminary. He received his doctorate at Harvard. He was also a Fulbright scholar at the University of Paris and spent a year of study at the University of Heidelberg, Germany.

In addition to his teaching assignments, he has written numerous articles and is presently editor-in-chief of "Dialogue: A Journal of Theology."

The public is invited to attend the lectures.

Gray said each person will be rationed daily 24 crackers, five six-ounce cups of water and a few pieces of candy. He said the crackers are similar to graham crackers, about three inches square and containing 30 calories each.

Each person will have a two-by-five-foot area on the floor for sleeping. "They want to make the shelter conditions as real as possible," Gray stated. He said also that those completing the course will be given certificates authorizing them as shelter instructors and managers.

Among those taking part in the program are Wilbur L. Plank, Adams County CD director and president of the Gettysburg Engineering Co., and Dean A. Shultz, a designer with the firm.

WCTU Institute Set For Saturday

The annual Adams County WCTU Institute will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Bethel Mennonite Church, two miles south of Biglerville on Route 34.

The afternoon program will include a bronze medal speech contest, glimpses from the children's group, the Loyal Temperance Legion, a story for the children, a talk by Mrs. Pearl Brown, WCTU worker in the schools of Pennsylvania, on alcohol and narcotic education.

There will be a covered dish supper with those attending asked to bring a covered dish and table service.

During the evening session, there will be a silver medal speech contest, devotions by the host pastor, Rev. John Rudy; special music by Bethel Mennonite Chorus, talk by Mrs. Pearl Brown, WCTU worker in schools, Ridge-way, Pa.; a film, "Verdict at 132." Everyone is welcome.

TRADING ACTIVE

NEW YORK (AP)—Airlines made a snap comeback in an irregular market which showed a slight gain on average early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The airlines rebounded after two days of sharp losses based on fears that the government may force fare reductions because of the rising profit ratio. These fears apparently were calmed for the time being.

The performance of such groups as autos, rubbers, farm implements, aerospace issues, electrical equipments and drugs was steady to higher. Chemicals, building materials and electronics were mixed.

The launching was delayed 23 minutes because of a leak in a fuel oxidizer line.

Six minutes after launch, the mission control center reported that Molly Brown was in a successful orbit.

Thousands watched the launch from the beaches around this spaceport. Millions more watched on television. Among them were President Johnson, who witnessed the spectacle on TV at the White House, his face very serious and rarely changing expression.

WIVES KEEP VIGIL

Others included Barbara Young and Betty Grissom, wives of the Gemini pilots, at their homes in Houston, Tex. Anxious hours lay ahead of them. Both arose before dawn to begin the tense vigil. Donald K. Slayton, astronaut coordinator, put in calls to them to "check on their status."

As the Gemini spacecraft hurtled into its first orbit, the camera-carrying Ranger 9 launched from here Sunday completed a midcourse maneuver intended to send it crashing into the crater Alphonsus on the moon at 9:08 A.M. (EST) Wednesday.

If there are no hitches, the pair were to complete their three orbits in four hours, 52 minutes and parachute to a landing in the Atlantic near Grand Turk Island about 2:15 p.m. Recovery ships and planes, headed by the aircraft carrier Intrepid, were stationed in the intended impact area.

FIRE SMALL JETS

Grissom, the command pilot, fired small jets to provide the final maneuver that steered the Molly Brown into the desired orbit.

He has the distinction of becoming the first man to rocket twice into space.

On July 21, 1961, he sailed briefly across the threshold of space on a 16-minute project Mercury suborbital flight and, in a hair-raising finish, swam for his life when his Liberty Bell 7 filled with water and sank.

Grissom and Young are the 18th and 19th persons and the seventh and eighth Americans to fly into space. The Soviet Union has orbited 10 men and one woman.

BETTER CRAFT

Although the Gemini spacecraft is about 4,000 pounds lighter than the Soviets', it has a key capability which the Soviet vehicle did not. It can be maneuvered so that astronaut teams can practice techniques that must be perfected for Project Apollo manned lunar landings planned late in this decade.

Both the ability to maneuver and to operate outside an orbiting spacecraft are techniques which must be developed before either Russians or Americans go to the moon.

On the next Gemini flight, scheduled in June, astronaut James A. McDivitt is scheduled to emerge partly at least from his spacecraft.

CHECK SUPPORT SYSTEM

Twenty minutes after liftoff, while Grissom and Young soared high over Africa, they made checks of their life support system. Grissom reported to a tracking station in the Canary Islands that all systems were working well.

As they wheeled around the globe, the astronauts were to fly their 7,000-pound vehicle backward, forward and sideways, pitch it nose down and stand it on its tail. During most of the mission, they were to face the direction they were flying instead of backward as the Mercury pilots did.

Grissom was to be in control most of the time and twice during the flight he was to lower the orbital path by about 50 miles in the first attempt to change an orbit on a manned space trip. The Russians are not known to have accomplished this feat.

ROBERT COOK DIES

Robert Cook, 70, 32 N. Stratton St., died suddenly this afternoon at 1:10 at his home.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, investigated and attributed death to coronary occlusion.

MAY BE APPEAL

Mr. Asquith, who last May cast the deciding vote for the six-district plan that was later rejected at Harrisburg, suggested at one stage Monday evening that the county board "should probably try to fail to accept" the state order on reorganization until the county is assured its plans for an area technical school will be approved.

Later when the board voted to resubmit to Harrisburg an area technical school plan, there were no conditions attached involving reorganization.

Members of the Gettysburg delegation included these teachers: Jack Corbin, John O'Brien, Edward Brownley, and these directors: Mrs. Rice, William Jacobs, Glenn Trostle, Paul and Horace Waybright and Orville B. Orner.

Questions were raised about state appropriation, transportation, kindergartens, the effects of the loss of Conewago Twp. and McSherrytown, the election of directors, the quality of education in county schools and were answered by Supt. Coulson and Mr. Asquith.

ASKS ABOUT BRIEFS

Mr. Corbin expressed an interest in seeing the briefs submitted to the state board by appellant districts and he was offered a set for his study.

Mr. Jacobs asked if the county would lose state appropriation as a single district. He was told size of a district is not a factor in determining state appropriation and there would not likely be any change in the amount for a time after one district is established.

Mr. O'Brien asked about the effect of the loss of the two districts near Hanover. He was told the districts include about three percent of the public school pupils in the county and nine percent of its assessed valuation. Mr. Coulson said their loss would result in a slight raising of the reimbursement fraction for the remainder of the county which would mean an increase in state aid.

SCHOOLS WILL GAIN

Mr. Trostle asked about transportation of pupils under a single district and was told there would be no marked change but there might be opportunity to realign routes and achieve some economies.

Mr. Jacobs and others asked about the possibility of "advanced areas" of the county being penalized by poorer areas under the single district plan either by being deprived of a program or by having it delayed. Mr. Coulson replied: "I can't agree that any district is much advanced beyond another in all ways. Take a long, hard look and it's difficult to find major differences. Actually each school stands to gain in one way or another."

Mr. Waybright asked about the election of directors under a single district and Mr. Coulson explained they could be elected at large or the court could be asked to divide the county into election districts, three or nine of them under present law. A bill at Harrisburg would increase the size of the single district board up to 15. Mr. Coulson noted that under the six-unit plan, directors in all but one district would have to be elected at large.

UNIFORM RATE BENEFICIAL

Mr. Coulson also reviewed a tax study he has just completed and concluded the importance of a uniform school tax rate in the county cannot be overlooked.

Mr. O'Brien expressed the opinion the one-unit plan "will impede progress of education" in the county.

Mr. Corbin noted that the county plan was upset by an appeal from a "minority" of the school districts. He was told that fact was pointed out to the state board and Mr. Coulson said the filing of a single appeal gave the state board the right to review the entire problem and "do as it saw fit."

Mr. Coulson also said: "Mere unhappiness with a decision does not provide grounds for an appeal."

Mr. Jacobs asked about kindergartens under a single district and said: "Fairfield and Franklin Twp. have kindergartens now. Would they be set up all over the county or would those two districts have to drop them?" Mr. Coulson told him the current programs would not be dropped "and I would expect the new school board would seek to expand the program wherever possible."

There was one point on which all agreed. The state has not defined a "comprehensive education program" and in the state board's order setting up the single district plan it ruled in support of appellants that claimed the six-unit plan "cannot effectively support a comprehensive program of education."

COUNTY BOARD

ly assigned by the State Board of Education to Hanover in the school reorganization plan.

The action on the area technical school plan was taken after County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson outlined to the board three courses of action he felt were open to them. The first was the one adopted. The second was to explore the possibility of developing an area technical school that would include all of the county and the Hanover School District. The third possibility was to explore the possibility of developing a York-Adams attendance area plan that might permit the development of several school centers within the two-county area.

The County Board adopted a resolution authorizing the submission of the necessary forms to Harrisburg to get permission for proposed construction projects in the Bermudian Springs School District to move ahead temporarily waiving any claim for reimbursement in order to get the project moving.

The necessary resolutions had been adopted by the Bermudian Springs board earlier Monday evening at a special meeting. The construction program may involve classroom additions to the East Berlin and York Springs Elementary School buildings and/or a classroom and auditorium addition to the Bermudian Springs High School building. The district would apply later for reimbursement from the state on whatever building plan is decided upon.

The county board also adopted a resolution on compliance with the Civil Rights Act to enable the special services program to purchase surplus property when available.

Assistant County Superintendent George B. Inskip told of work he has been doing under the Economic Opportunity Act as head of a committee named recently by the county commissioners. He said he is ready to help school districts set up projects under the act.

Supt. Coulson reported briefly on pending school legislation including a House bill that would increase state appropriations for vocational, agriculture, home economics, industrial and distributive education pupils.

Mr. Coulson said that the bill, if passed, would mean $10,000 extra in state funds for Adams County schools. He referred briefly to the status of the new school bus bills and offered the directors information on legislation to establish an "intermediate unit" between the local school district and the state department. Two bills proposing such a plan have been offered.

Mr. Coulson also reported on a recent meeting he held with school administrators and others on the need of the Educational TV station at Hershey, now serving schools in this area and offering evening programs on Channel 33, for $150,000 to meet capital fund requirements.

The board gave routine approval to the general and payroll accounts for February.

President Dean Asquith presided at the meeting which adjourned shortly before 11 o'clock. The session was held in the county superintendent's office on Carlisle St. with these other members of the board in attendance: Glenn M. Haar, Clark Wildasin, Hugh C. McIlhenny and Fred H. Hartlaub.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

James H. Reaver has broken ground on the south side of East Water street where he will erect a dwelling house.

C. William Trexell was on Tuesday afternoon elected clerk in the Citizens Trust Company, taking the position made vacant recently by the death of his father. The appointment will meet with general favor among the patrons of the institution.

It is reported that the three local churches which years ago presented war claims for damage during the summer of 1963 are to receive the money due them. St. James Lutheran church would get $100 if this is correct; St. Mark's Reformed on the Baltimore Pike, $215; and Trinity Reformed $70.

The Evergreen Cemetery Association expects during the coming summer to carry out the plan which they have had in contemplation for some time to open their fourteen acres of land south of the present cemetery. Entrances will be had from both the Baltimore Pike and Taneytown Road and the place will be attractively laid out with driveways and the planting of trees and shrubbery.

Biglerville: Workmen are installing electric lights in the Bell exchange on York street. Both exchanges are so equipped, the Cumberland Valley having put in lights some time ago. Both get their current from the Thomas Brothers Store. Miss Lila Rice has returned to our town after an absence of several months. She has opened her millinery store in the G. H. Knouse building. Electric lights have been installed in the Kleinfelter barrel factory.

The mischievous prank of several children resulted in the burning to the ground late Thursday afternoon of Chestnut Hill school house in Union township. School was dismissed at the usual hour in the afternoon and before going home some of the boys loitered about the grounds playing. A burning stump nearby was their principal source of amusement and the boys started to throw about glowing pieces of wood in an effort to see whether he could throw a brand higher in the air than any of his fellows. One of the youngsters happened to cast a piece of the wood into the belfry. It was believed the force of the throw had extinguished the fire and no thought of any damage being caused entered the children's minds. After a little more play they departed for their homes. They had scarcely arrived there when telephone calls announced that the building was ablaze. The flames could not be saved. The flames spread from the blazing belfry to the wooden shingle roof and it was but a few minutes before that was burning fiercely. Efforts to extinguish it were useless in view of any adequate fire fighting apparatus. Residents of that section succeeded in getting out practically everything — books and desks and even the stove was removed before the roof fell in. The building was a one-story brick structure and was built about thirty years ago. Only a few days remain of the present school term and directors have not yet decided where the final sessions will be held. The teacher is Miss Roxie Brumgard.

THE RACE WHERE WIND TELLS

The start of a race is always fascinating — because the competitors all seem to present the same appearance.

But still more fascinating than the beginning of a race — is the end. Because it's at that time when the spectacle is presented of a man who trained so well and who controlled his mind so accurately that he was able to out-distance those who seemed at the start to be on a par with him.

For, you see, it's wind, after all, that tells the story! It was not so very many years ago that a boy was glad to get the chance to be taught a profession, or a trade, or a business, by entering the employ of one to whose line he wished to enter — simply as an apprentice — perhaps without any pay whatsoever at the start. Today, almost the first questions that a prospective employee asks are these: "What is the salary? What are the hours? Do I have an assistant? How much vacation do I get? How soon will I get a raise?"

But the successful competitor in the race is the one to whom an understanding of wind is given at the very start.

The chap who says: I want work. I don't care what you give me to do. I don't care what the pay is at the start — he's the chap with the kind of wind that's going to place him a winner — and make no mistake about that!

Nearly all of us have experiences largely parallel. We are all of us just human, after all. Our failures or our successes are relative. But we all have a certain reserve, and reserve in wind can be trained in exactly the same manner that the mind can be trained, or that the hand can be trained, or that the eye can be trained.

The fruits of a race do not always fall to the swift — but to the persistent one, the preparer chap — to the one with faith in the ultimate.

TAKE-HOME PAY
"It was counted out in dollars and they call it take-home pay."

Said a workman, "but we count it in a very different way. When I hand it to the Missus this is how she runs it through: 'Here's the dress for little Mary and a pair of shoes for you.'

"Here's the picture show on Friday, and the feed we're going to eat."

Here's the home that we are buying with the payments we must meet.

Here's that visit from the doctor, and I wonder can there be This week that pretty bonnet I've had set aside for me?"

The master of the payroll every dollar has to count. It's his duty to make certain he gives just the right amount. It is money that he handles, but my take-home pay we read in shoes and frocks and bonnets and the various things we need.

RECOLLECTION DAY IS HELD

Seventy-one women of St. Aloysius Parish and guests attended the first annual Parish Day of Recollection, sponsored by the Parish Council of Catholic Women, and held on Sunday in the parish church. The Rev. J. C. Prabhu, a native of India and member of the Jesuit Order of Priests at Woodstock, conducted the spiritual exercises. The day opened with the 10 o'clock Mass, a High Mass in honor of St. Cecilia, sung by the Senior Choir. Miss A. Marie Budde directed and Miss Anna C. Weaver presided at the console. The women received Communion at the Mass and prayers of thanksgiving following the Mass were led by Mrs. Paul E. Alloff.

A brunch was served in the parish hall by the men of the Holy Name Society. The first conference by Father Prabhu began at 12:30 p.m., and was followed by the recitation of the Rosary and the Litany. Members who assisted with leading the prayers were Mrs. Bernard M. Selby, parish council president; Mrs. Conrad C. Hull, spiritual development committee chairman, who was in charge of arrangements; Mrs. W. T. Gingrow, Mrs. Bernard G. Kebil, Mrs. Thomas G. French and the litany was led by Mrs. Alloff. Private prayer and meditation were held until the second conference at 1:45 p.m. The day was concluded with Holy Hour and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, with the traditional hymns being sung by the women. The theme of the conference was "Seeking Christ." Separate talks were given to the teenage girls attending, including the members of the Girl Scout troop whose leader is Mary Rita Redding, as part of their Marian Award requirements.

The next meeting of the Parish Council will be held on Sunday, April 25 and will be in the form of a birthday party, with the committee headed by Mrs. John R. Rudisill Sr., and Mrs. Merle Little in charge.

Mass on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be celebrated at 8:15 a.m.; Saturday Mass will be at 7:30 a.m. in the church. There will be Mass on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., with Lenten homily by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John E. Metz. Stations of the Cross will be conducted on Friday at 2:15 and 7:30 p.m.

YOUTH GROUPS MEET SUNDAY

Atlee F. Rebert, adult counselor for March, led the meeting of the Junior High Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's United Church of Christ on Sunday evening. He offered prayer, read the scripture from Proverbs and presented an article "Is It In the Bible?" There was group singing and refreshments were served. The group will not meet again until Sunday, April 4, at 6:30 p.m. Elmer W. Gall will be the April counselor.

"With White Men" was the subject of the topic discussed by Jane Claybaugh, leader, at the meeting of the Senior High Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's Church on Sunday evening. Carole Flinchbaugh offered prayer. There was group singing accompanied by Linda Sentz. William Staley was appointed to be leader for the next meeting on Sunday, April 4, at 6:30.

Norman Sentz Jr. was leader at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Christ United Church of Christ on Sunday evening. The program opened with hymn singing accompanied by Nancy Koons and continued as follows: C. E. Pledge in unison; scripture, Debbie Arentz; group hymn; prayer, Richard J. Berwager; piano solo, "The Holy City," Barbara Sheely; Bible quiz; poem, Ruth Sentz; topic, "I Learn to Worship," discussed by Donald L. Wolfe; closing hymn, Lord's Prayer and C. E. benediction. The society will meet at 7 p.m. next Sunday.

Mrs. Leroy W. Bish will be at bicentennial headquarters this evening to accept advance orders for the bicentennial book to be published in conjunction with the forthcoming celebration of the 200th anniversary of Littlestown.

Headquarters is located in the former Basehoar Ford Garage building. The phone number is 359-7290. Anyone who is interested in details about such items as the names of local citizens who have served their community as burgess, as borough secretary and treasurer; the names of the physicians and the dentists, as well as pictures; the number and variety of industry and civic and fraternal organizations; the listing of business places, with pictures as far back as the 1870s; the story of education from the time of the private schools to the present; the facts about the establishment of the various religious groups, complete with pictures; should get their order in before the deadline this week, to be sure of receiving a copy of the Bicentennial Book. There are many facts listed which are not generally known, such as these: Who was the business man from Littlestown who was in Ford's Theater when Lincoln was shot? Who was the baby born the same night in the community? Who from Littlestown served in national, state and county government? Who owned the first lots in Peter Little's town? There are many pictures in the book also.

This week is also the deadline for patrons who might wish to secure space in the patron section of the book. Victor Reynolds is solicitation chairman and anyone who has not been contacted and wants space is asked to get in touch with him or a member of his committee, Dean Bankert, Richard Boyd, Robert Hahn, Stanley Frock, Joseph McMaster, Stanley Mummert, Michael Sneringer, Robert Spangler and William Warner. The book goes to press at the end of this month and it will be ready for delivery about mid-July.

CLUB TO MARK YOUTH NIGHT

The Woman's Community Club of Littlestown and vicinity will observe Youth Night at the meeting following the community church services Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the social room at the Eagles home, W. King St.

Miss Sandra Hawk, of town, a Senior at Shippensburg State College, who spent her Junior year at the University of Besancon, Besancon, France, will show slides which she took on her travels in Europe. Following the pictures there will be a question and answer period in charge of Miss Hawk and Miss May Bourdury of France, an ICYE student, spending this year in the community.

Special music will include selections by the Misses Jackie Elder, Martha Ritter, Peggy Myers and Dianne Byers, local high school quartet, assisted by Miss Bourdury.

Miss Margaret Mary Alloff, of town, a Senior at Delone Catholic High School, will present a talk which she has prepared for oratorical competition.

Mrs. Luther W. Ritter is chairman of the March program committee. During the social hour, refreshments will be served by the hostesses, Mrs. P. Bernard Weaver, chairman.

U.S. national parks had 102,711,000 visitors last year.

SENATE OKAYS THREE BILLS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three more bills are on their way to the House with unanimous Senate approval.

The bills were approved Monday in the Senate as the chamber worked on a routine agenda. One proposal would raise the penalty for bomb hoaxes from $1,000 and/or one year in jail to $5,000 and/or five years.

Another measure would permit counties to appropriate up to $1,000 in county funds for centennial ceremonies commemorating the end of the Civil War. The third bill would permit the state to receive and distribute surplus federal goods.

Only one bill had dissent, but there was no debate. That was legislation to eliminate referendums from ward realignment in Philadelphia.

The proposal was sent to Gov. Scranton on a vote of 44-5.

Insurance Firm Is Suspended

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Lebanon County insurance firm has been suspended from transacting further business by the State Insurance Department.

Audrey R. Kelly, insurance commissioner, charged Monday that the firm was insolvent and that further transaction of business would be hazardous to its policyholders, creditors and the public.

A petition will be filed in the Dauphin County Court, asking for an order of liquidation, Mrs. Kelly said.

The suspension order prohibits the company from issuance of policies, transfers of policies and payment of monies without prior written approval of the insurance commissioner.

HAS HER OWN COAL MINE IN HER BASEMENT

(Editor's Note — A short beer in Arizona.)

Her own private coal mine — in the basement.

All are a part of the American scene.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — It'll be easier now for Arizonans to have a short beer at home.

Gov. Sam Goddard has signed into law a bill to permit the sale of beer in cans smaller than eight ounces. Previously it was illegal for package liquor stores to sell smaller cans, although the short can of beer could be purchased in some bars.

COAL IN CELLAR

SHAWNEE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. William Leaver, 71, has her own private coal mine in her basement.

At the rate Mrs. Leaver uses her coal, it will last 1,000 years. Current estimates are she has 10,000 tons still to be mined in her basement.

The mine was discovered by Mrs. Leaver's husband in 1917 and has been going strong since. It is one of the few in this Appalachian country of Ohio which is still producing coal.

Three or four times a year, a son, Delbert, 46, of Columbus, comes to this little town "to dig enough to fill the coal bin" for his mother.

Mrs. Leaver's mine goes 150 feet from the basement under a steep hill. The shaft is 10 feet wide and 14 feet high.

$2 MILLION COLLECTION

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It took Harold Stiers 40 years to acquire his $2-million collection of model boats. Now he's had to put them in a bank vault where he can't enjoy them.

The boats, made of jade, ivory and silver, were the objects of one of the most quixotic burglaries in the memory of St. Louis police.

Eighty-two of the 200 models were stolen from Stiers' mansion last October. After a comedy of errors by the burglars, the models were found in the trunk of the St. Louis district attorney's car.

One man, Wyvonne Hornburg, St. Louis, has been charged with the theft and detective Sgt. Ernest Alexander says more may be arrested.

Alexander said a New York man hired a ring of 12 St. Louis thieves to grab the boats. The crooks got them to Chicago, then the New Yorker decided he didn't want them, the officer said.

The burglars, left holding the bag, negotiated with police and the district attorney, then the district attorney found the boats in his car.

Gets Heavy Mail On School Bus Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. Preston B. Davis, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, says he has received about 15,000 pieces of mail from persons interested in proposed legislation that would allow private and parochial school children to ride tax-supported buses.

Davis, a Northumberland County Republican, said Monday volume of mail on the subject has forced him to discontinue acknowledging the letters. He said many of the letters contained petitions.

County Boosts Real Estate Tax

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The Montgomery County Commissioners have adopted a 1965 budget of $19,789,457—a boost of $1,527,384—and raised taxes 1.5 mills ($1.50 for each $100 of assessed valuation).

The commissioners also withheld a $120,000 appropriation Monday for the county's proposed community college because of the probability it won't open in September as previously scheduled.

No Public Interest Shown In Senatorial Reapportionment

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI
Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG (AP) — Sen. Marvin V. Keller, R - Bucks, threatened today to call off public hearings on senatorial reapportionment because of an evident lack of public interest.

Keller, chairman of the Senate Elections and Apportionment Committee, said he has not received one request as yet to testify at two days of scheduled public hearings April 7-8.

"I'm of the mind to call the hearings off if I don't hear anything this week," he remarked. "We can't run these things on the last minute."

UNDER COURT ORDERS

The General Assembly is under State Supreme Court orders to reapportion itself on the one-man, one-vote principle by Sept. 1. The House Apportionment Committee is in the midst of holding regional public hearings for that chamber's realignment.

The Senate, however, is scheduled to hold its public hearings in Harrisburg.

"I'm willing to listen to as many people as want to testify," Keller said, "but I'm not going to issue special invitations."

GLAD TO LISTEN

"If even only one party wants to come to testify, I'd be glad to listen to him. We'd schedule him for 10 a.m. and let it go at that."

The General Assembly, meanwhile, ran through a light day of work Monday with both chambers coming back for another meeting this afternoon.

The Senate passed a bill authorizing the state to participate in the federal anti-poverty and Appalachia programs and sent the measure to the House.

The measure is necessary for the state to take advantage of federal funds offered under the two programs.

APPROPRIATION PACKAGE

The chamber was flooded with a package of appropriation bills—68 of them, to be exact, worth $122.3 million.

Most of them were earmarked in Gov. Scranton's $1.261 billion budget for 1965-66 as specific appropriations for institutions and facilities.

The bill appropriating funds for the bulk of government day-to-day spending will be introduced later.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

Milk—A bill was introduced in the Senate to replace the Milk Control Commission with a milk stabilization board which would have to be reapproved every two years.

Tires — The House sent the Senate on a vote of 176-28 a bill that would specifically permit carbide studded tires to be used on Pennsylvania highways.

Communists—A bill was introduced in the House which would prohibit communists from making speeches at state colleges.

NEW ATTACK ON MILK CONTROL COMMISSION

HARRISBURG (AP) — The much-beleagured Milk Control Commission is under attack from another flank.

A bill was introduced in the Senate Monday to abolish the three-member commission and replace it with a milk stabilization board.

The effect of the legislation would be to do away with permanent milk price controls and replace them with limited regulation.

The proposed milk stabilization board would have the power to impose temporary retail and wholesale price levels in emergency situations which might threaten the state's milk supply.

PROPOSED BY PITTSBURGH

Temporary price regulation would expire within six months unless renewed while the stabilization board would have only a two-year life, renewable at the pleasure of the legislature.

The plan was proposed by the Pittsburgh city administration and received the sponsorship of the entire Allegheny County delegation in the Senate.

Producer or farm price controls could be rescinded by a referendum of farms in affected marketing areas.

The bill also would require milk dealers to make their records public during price hearings. They are not required to open their books under present law.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Dr. Rene Frank, 55, composer and chairman of Fort Wayne Bible College's division of arts and sciences, died Sunday, two weeks after he suffered a heart attack. Frank, who was born at Mulhouse, Alsace-Lorraine, fled from the Nazis to Japan during World War II. He directed the U.S. Army school music department at Kyoto in 1946 and 1947.

Cassius Clay, The Enigma Of Sports, Has Three Faces

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay is a man of three faces.

One is that of Muhammad Ali, devoted disciple of Elijah Muhammad and fanatical convert to the Black Muslim religion.

Another is that of a boasting, poem-spouting loudmouth, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, who bleats to all within earshot: "I am the greatest — I am the greatest."

The third is that of Cassius Marcellus Clay, descendant of a Kentucky slave, humble as a baby, a man who hates violence and wants to raise chickens and pat little children on their heads.

HE IS A MUSLIM

Who is the real Cassius Clay? He may be all of them, playing different roles at different times. He is the enigma of sports. Is he stupid, a dupe of the Muslims? Or is he smart as a fox? Is he truly a great fighter? Or is he a farce with a barrel of luck?

Make no mistake about it — he is a Muslim.

Down here where Cassius is training for his May 25 return fight with Sonny Liston, the word is out that the champion wants to soft-pedal his Muslim affiliations.

Is he ready to give it up as a bad thing?

NOT DROPPING FAITH

"No, sir, not at all," Cassius blurted, as sweat cascaded down his upper body in his cubby-hole dressing room of the Fifth Street gym. "I got a tough fight coming up. I want to concentrate on my fight."

The champion said he adopted the Islam, or Black Muslim, faith seven years ago when he was just 16.

"I read some literature that a man passed out to me on the street," he explained. "I got interested. I went to a Mosque — that's just like a Shriners' temple. I heard Elijah Muhammad. I knew right then that he was the true Messenger of Allah. There is only one God, Allah, and some day all Negroes will believe it."

"LIVE PERFECT LIFE"

Cassius said he was lost until he saw the light, and he added: "Now I am different. I have peace and understanding. I don't smoke. I don't drink. I don't eat unclean food. I don't look at women with lust in my eye. I pray five times a day.

"With all my money and fame, I am a target for temptation. But I live a perfect life. People look at me and say: 'How could a man be so great and so good?'"

Despite the bitterness resulting from the murder of Malcolm X, a rebel from the Muslim movement, Cassius disdains bodyguards.

HAS 3 CADILLACS

He rides to the gym in a red Cadillac, one of three he owns, with the top down. He moves freely and when he's through he goes to his little Miami bungalow, in the Negro section of the city, and sits on the front lawn. He is the idol of school kids on the block.

"Nothing can happen to me," he says. "I'm not afraid."

Cassius says he is certain Elijah Muhammad is the true Messenger of God.

"God came down and gave him supernatural powers," the champion added. "Everything he has predicted has come true."

FIGHTER SAYS HE ASKS TITLE FOR THE MONEY

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) —

At this stage of his career, light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano says "the buck is worth more than the glory." "At the beginning you want the title — and the glory — more than anything else," Pastrano said Monday at his plush training camp at Kutsher's Country Club. "Now I fight for the buck. Sure, the title is great. Without it I don't make the buck."

WILL COLLECT $100,000

The handsome, unmarked boxer, at 29 a veteran of 13½ years of pro battling, will collect $100,000 for his third title defense on March 30 when he meets Jose Torres at Madison Square Garden in the second half of the title doubleheader.

Welterweight king Emile Griffith defends against Cuban-born Joe Stabile in the other.

Willie the Wisp made his remark about glory and the buck when the talk switched to Terry Downes, the wealthy British bookmaker — boxer. Pastrano stopped Downes in the 11th round of a title fight at Manchester, England, last Nov. 30.

Shortly after the fight, Downes, reputedly worth more than $500,000 because of his betting parlor holdings in England, announced his retirement.

"I don't believe he'll quit," said Willie. "He's crazy about fighting. He wants that title more than anything else. If I had his money I would quit right now. If I had it before I won the title I would have packed it in."

"Now the title means money to me and I intend to keep it. I've never worked harder for a fight than I have for Torres."

"I respect Torres as a puncher. He's a real cutie, too. But I'm confident I'll beat him."

Pension Fund Pays Out $4.5 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Major League Players Pension Fund has paid out almost $4.5 million in pensions, life insurance and health care to baseball players, former players and their families since 1947.

Commissioner Ford Frick said Monday $33 million had been contributed to the fund, with less than 10 per cent — about $2.9 million — coming from the players. Television revenue from World Series and All-Star games has made up the bulk of contributions.

Frick said 785 players and former players are eligible for benefits by virtue of having played in the majors for five years or more. Of the total membership, 239 are still active in the big leagues.

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Tierney, 74, composer for Broadway musicals of the 1920s, died Monday of a heart attack. Tierney wrote the score for three Ziegfeld Follies. Best known of his individual compositions was "Alice Blue Gown" from the musical "Irene."

He was born in Perth Amboy, N.J. MIA MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Joseph C. Smith, 81, leader of the first band to record dance music for RCA Victor Records, died Monday. Smith, who was an honorary member of Associated Musicians of Greater New York, moved to Miami Beach 20 years ago.

They were named Monday along with Richard Braucher from Kutztown.

IN ALL-STAR TILT PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sim Hill and Norm Vanlier of Midland's PIAA Class A basketball champions will play for the Pennsylvania All-Stars against the National All-Stars here Friday.

They were named Monday along with Richard Braucher from Kutztown.

BIG FIELD IN MAT TOURNEY; ENTER BAVARO

LARAMIE, Wyo. — The greatest field in the history of the national collegiate wrestling tournament will compete next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the 35th annual NCAA championships at the University of Wyoming's Memorial fieldhouse.

Some 263 wrestlers from 70 schools in 15 states currently are registered and will battle for titles in 10 weight divisions. Last year's tourney at Cornell University set a record with 253 competitors.

Other entries are expected and could push the figure to the 300 mark.

ENTER FULL TEAMS

Leading the entries with a full 10-man team is defending champion Oklahoma State. The powerful Cowboys, who own 24 of the 34 national crowns, also return one defending titlist, Yojiro Uetake at 130 pounds.

OSU's Big Eight cousins Colorado, Iowa State and Oklahoma also have full teams entered along with Michigan, Syracuse and Colorado State University. Host Wyoming and Brigham Young each have nine entrants.

Mankato State, NCC college division champion, will send seven men to Laramie along with Colorado State College and Oregon State.

BAVARO IN 147

College division champions who qualified March 13 at Colorado Mines for the university tournament are: Steve Johansen, Fresno State, 115; Gangstad, Mankato State, 123; Dale Stryker, Western State, 130; Ron Knoebel, Locomotive College, 137; Joe Bavaro, Gettysburg College, 147; Jim Burke, San Francisco State, 157 (Burke will compete at 147 at Laramie); John Carr, Wilkes College, 167, and Al Rozman, Western State, 191.

Competition will begin Thursday at 2 p.m., M.S.T., on six mats with the second round following at 7:30. Friday the quarterfinals begin at 1:30 p.m. and the semifinals and consolation first and second rounds will go at 7:30. Saturday consolation semifinals and finals begin at 1:30 p.m. and the championship finals start at 8. The six mats will be used for the first five sessions with one mat for the championship bouts Saturday night.

RUSSIA SENDS AID TO REDS

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid Brezhnev said today that the Soviet Union is "already taking the necessary measures of assistance to strengthen the defensive potential" of North Viet Nam.

Brezhnev, Soviet communist party chief, told a Red Square crowd welcoming the Soviet Union's two new cosmonauts:

"You may rest assured, comrades, that we will discharge our international duty vis-a-vis the fraternal Socialist country."

"The flames of war fanned up by United States imperialists in Viet Nam threaten to spread to other areas and jeopardize world peace," Brezhnev declared.

"If the American aggressors hope that time will pass and their actions in Viet Nam will be forgotten, that time will wash away the disgrace of their crimes, they are deeply mistaken."

YOUNG FIELDER IS ROCK 'N ROLL PLATTER STAR

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) —

"I make naturally beautiful music," said Tony Conigliaro, the brash Boston outfielder who grabbed the brass ring in his first shot at the majors and now has his sights set on a gold record in his new career as a rock 'n' roll singer.

"I really just happened into this," said Conigliaro. "I was doing some singing at a party and there were some people there from RCA Victor, Mercury and Columbia who expressed interest. They bid just like in baseball, and I signed for the best deal."

TWO FOR RELEASE

Two records already are on the market — "Playing the Field" and "Why Don't They Understand?" Two more will be released soon — "Little Red Scooter" and "I Can't Get Over You."

In addition, Conigliaro is scheduled to appear on two television shows — Ed Sullivan and Shindig.

Do the Red Sox have any objections to his recording career? "No, it's in my contract with RCA that it can't interfere with my playing. The Red Sox don't object as long as I don't cut any records during the season."

But if Conigliaro's voice is pleasant to the teen-age crowd it's his bat that has been the pleasant sound for the Red Sox crowd.

24 HOME RUNS

Despite two injuries — a broken bone in his right arm and a broken bone in his left hand — Conigliaro played in 111 games as a rookie last season, hitting .290 with 24 homers and 52 runs batted in.

But the 20-year-old outfielder admits it wasn't easy. "There's tremendous pressure," he said. "It makes you bear down — and either you do or you're all done. As for the biggest adjustment, I was just a kid who liked dances and rock 'n' roll. I had to learn to act like a big leaguer."

Brezhnev, Soviet communist party chief, told a Red Square crowd welcoming the Soviet Union's two new cosmonauts:

Five Dynamite Bombs Are Found In Five Negro Areas Of Birmingham On Sunday

By JAMES PURKS
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Police said today they had discovered a sixth homemade bomb Monday. It was found at a Negro funeral home, Pooles' Funeral Chapel. One of the five bombs found Sunday was near another Negro funeral home.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Police, convinced five dynamite bombs found in Negro areas were meant to explode, pressed an intense investigation Monday into a near disaster they say was averted by the cool work of two Army demolition experts.

Police Chief Jamie Moore assigned a special 20-man investigative team to push an around-the-clock probe.

The bombs, ticking in harmless-looking green boxes, were spotted near the former home of a Negro leader, a Catholic church, a Negro attorney's twice-previously bombed home, a funeral home and a Negro high school. All were within a four-mile radius of northwest Birmingham. Police evacuated the areas.

PREVIOUS TARGETS

This radius includes previous bombing targets — the 16th Street Baptist Church where four Negro girls died in a blast Sept. 15, 1963; the Gaston Motel, and the former home of the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The fifth bomb was discovered late Sunday night near the former home of A. D. King. It was found under a truck by two policemen who were patrolling the street.

They called in the demolition experts, Spec. 6 Robert M. Presley, of Oneonta, Ala., and

M. Sgt. Marvin M. Bryon, who dismantled all the bombs. The experts said this bomb already had reached its time and failed to explode. "It's a wonder it didn't go off," said one.

NOT SCARE DEVICES

Chief Fire Marshal Aaron Rosenfeld and Bryon discounted speculation that the bombs were meant only as scare devices. "Those batteries had plenty of juice," Rosenfeld said. "They were hot. There's no question but what they were meant to go."

Rosenfeld said the first three bombs were set to explode at 12 noon and the fourth at about 6 p.m. No time was given for the fifth bomb.

Moore offered no theories behind the attempted bombings, but would not discount the possibility they were meant to coincide with the start Sunday of a Selma-to-Montgomery march by civil rights demonstrators.

TEACHER FINDS FIRST

The first bomb was noticed by a school teacher, Fred Calhoun, as he arrived for Mass at Our Lady Queen of the Universe Catholic Church on Center Street, part of an area nicknamed "Dynamite Hill" because of past racial bombings. Calhoun said he almost ran over the bomb in a parking lot.

Father Edward L. Foster, who is white, led his all-Negro congregation of about 120 persons outside upon being informed of the discovery and continued Mass in a yard separated from the lethal package by the church.

SEEK ANSWER TO COIN SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional group studying the U.S. coin shortage has asked the Treasury to recommend a proposed solution on schedule.

A Treasury report is planned next month, after being delayed since February.

Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the House subcommittee on monetary affairs, said: "We are strongly urging the Treasury against further delay, and we are recommending that steps be taken to conserve the Treasury's silver supply pending congressional decision, on what, if any, new

LBJ REVEALS SECRET VIEWS TO NEWSMEN

By FRANCES LEWINE
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson mixed scenic tours with frank and fascinating "off-the-record" reminiscences Sunday as he gave some rare inside glimpses of how the nation's chief executive operates.

He rocked in a chair at his boyhood home and toured "some pretty country" with a convoy of about 30 reporters and photographers.

Filled with stories — humorous, poignant, politically significant — the President, in jovial mood, held forth for more than three hours with a rapt audience.

REVEALING SESSION

In the view of White House correspondents who went along, it was one of the most revealing sessions with Johnson. But he made them promise not to report his views.

While the show-and-tell tour was in progress, the President kept tuned in to the situation in Selma, Ala., getting half-hour reports on the progress there of the 50-mile march in support of voting rights for Negroes — "keeping my fingers crossed" that there would be no trouble.

After attending Sunday morning services at the white clapboard First Christian Church in Johnson City, Johnson shook hands, signed autographs, and handed out LBJ pins and pens to youngsters.

VISITED BOYHOOD HOME

Going from church for a look at his newly restored boyhood home nearby, the President couldn't resist leading a tour there.

"Bird will fuss a little about it," he told newsmen, referring to Mrs. Johnson, "but come on in and look at it."

He said that hour-long excursion had to be off the record, including his own recollections, because Mrs. Johnson plans a formal opening in April and he

UNION WORKERS TAKE OIL FIRM

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Workers of the Communist-dominated Perbum union took over the head office of the Caltex Oil Co., Monday without waiting for the government to appoint a management team.

Caltex is one of four Western oil companies that were notified last weekend that the government was imposing "authority and supervision" over their operations in Indonesia.

The other companies are Stanvac, Pan-American and Shell. Shell is Dutch, the others American. The notification said government management teams would be appointed for all four companies.

Shell and Stanvac reported normal operations Monday. Pan-American, which is doing only exploration work in Indonesia, has no head office in Jakarta.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Services were held Sunday for Charles H. von Tegen, retired state secretary of the Pennsylvania Grocers Association, who died Thursday at the age of 82. A resident of suburban Abington, he also was once a Philadelphia city councilman.

There are 1,507 life insurance companies in the U.S.

COUNTRY JAUNT

After everyone had trooped through the house, the President said goodbye to his wife, announcing, "I'm going to see some pretty country."

"You all can come along if you want to," he told the news gathering.

The result: a 20-car motorcade followed the President for a 35-minute ride over a back country road, rutty, rocky and so dry the stirred-up dust obscured the cars ahead.

Finally Johnson decided to go home for a long-delayed lunch.

His helicopter rose over the central Texas hill country just as the radio was announcing the successful blast-off of the Ranger rocket from Cape Kennedy to the moon.

SAYS RIGHTS "VIOLATED"

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Robert Poulson, one of four persons convicted of the 1959 burglary at the John B. Rich home, says his rights were violated when he was arrested.

In a petition filed Saturday, Poulson, who is now serving a 6-to-12 year sentence for the burglary, said he should be released from prison because he was not permitted to advise his attorney of his whereabouts when he was arrested in Philadelphia and taken to Reading State Police headquarters.

He also said he was arraigned without his attorney being present and that he signed a confession that was dictated only after mistreatment and prolonged confinement.

Poulson, John Berkery, Ralph Staino Jr. and Lillian Reis were convicted of the burglary.

Police contended some $475,000 was taken from Rich's home. Rich said his loss was about $17,000 in jewelry and $3,000 in cash.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sun Oil Co. says it will spend $161.1 million this year for modernization, expansion and searching for additional reserves of oil and gas. The company, in its annual report Sunday, said the expenditure would be exclusive of development of the Athabasca Oil Sands in Canada, through Great Canadian Oil Sand Ltd.

RANGE

Fully Automatic

COOKS RINGS AROUND THE REST

What's the secret that makes a new electric range the best possible way to cook your family's meals? The rings! Those magic rings—found only on an electric range—give you these four big advantages.

• clean. No soot, no smoke. Pots and pans remain sparkling bright. The range itself, even your kitchen stays clean.

• cool. Surface units transfer heat directly to pots and pans—not to you or your kitchen. Ovens are fully insulated, too.

• fast. Ovens and broilers heat to desired temperatures faster than you thought possible. Surface units are hot in seconds.

• fully automatic. Dependable, steady electric heat frees you from pot-watching, eliminates guesswork, prevents over-boiling or burning. Just set the automatic controls—and look forward to a delicious meal.

See what a wonderful difference a new electric range will make in your kitchen! Stop in at your appliance dealer's showroom... and find out why an electric range cooks rings around the rest!

Luci Baines Johnson Is Never Alone With Date

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) —

When Paul Betz takes his girl out on a date, they're never really alone.

Often he and his girl friend go with other couples on the date, which may be a movie, a dance or a pizza party. But even when they go alone, a couple of men are always close by.

The men are Secret Service agents. Paul's girl is Luci Baines Johnson, the President's daughter.

LAUDS BODYGUARDS

"You get used to the bodyguards," said Betz, 20, a premed student at Mt. St. Mary's College, in an interview with a Baltimore reporter.

"We chat with them now and then. They are nice fellows. They stand in the background and you know they are there, even though you often don't see them."

Paul Betz first met Luci, 17, last spring on a blind date. His roommate at Mt. St. Mary's, Bill Lettice of Alexandria, Va., telephoned Paul at his Washington, D. C., home.

"He didn't say who my date was going to be, except to say that she was pretty," Betz recalled.

WENT TO MOVIE

"We had a fine time. We went to a movie."

The two have been dating since. Betz has no car. He either takes Luci out in her white convertible or borrows his sister's car.

In the beginning they rode with the Secret Service men. Now that the Johnsons know him better—the spent Christmas with them in Texas—the Secret Service men follow in another car.

IS "PINNED"

Not many weeks after their first date, Luci visited the Mt. St. Marys campus. Paul "pinned" her with his college pin — there are no fraternities at the Catholic college.

This is considered more serious than dating steadily, but less binding than a formal engagement.

Luci, a senior at the National Cathedral School for Girls, an Episcopal school, has since been taking instruction in the Roman Catholic religion, Paul's faith.

But Betz says there are no wedding plans in the immediate

"Luci wants to be a registered nurse, and I've got another year of school at Mt. St. Marys, and then all of medical school ahead of me," he said.

SERIOUS STUDENT

A slim, quiet-spoken fellow, Betz takes life seriously. He sent his regrets for the pre-inaugural ball when he learned it fell on the eve of his chemistry examination.

Betz played varsity basketball and golf at Gonzaga High School in Washington but did not go out for sports when he entered Mt. St. Mary's in 1962 because the premed course is considered a rigorous one.

He plays golf and intramural basketball occasionally, and his one extracurricular activity is the Capitol Club, which sponsors dances among young people in Washington and Baltimore. He is club president.

His father is a Washington ophthalmologist but young Betz has not decided what branch of medicine he will enter.

At the end of this school term, he will go back to his standing summer job as a timekeeper with a Washington contractor. With overtime, he often makes more than $100 a week.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

Costumes continue to make a big impression on fashion. The ensemble idea, a suit-and-blouse or coat-and-dress, has endeared itself for many reasons. Doubtless the main attraction is the put-together look that it instantly offers.

Another winning feature about costumes is their versatility. The secondary part — the dress or blouse — now has style and finish, so that it can be worn independently. Thus one costume subdivides into several changes.

Just coming onto the scene, the costume with a long coat, matching skirt and harmonizing blouse, is sure to gain popularity. For it could be the pivotal point of a capsule wardrobe. The combination stands in for a suit and a coat to begin with. Add a compatible dress and you have two complete ensembles as well as a variety of parts to wear separately.

There's a trick, however, to making an addition: Be sure to key its color to that of the lining in a costume's jacket or coat. It need not match, but it must be related. For example, a coat lined in navy would relate to a navy and red print dress. A print lining calls for mating with a solid color, one that picks up some shade in the print.

Colors, otherwise combined, destroy the costume look. And that would be a pity. For women-on-the-go a costume obviously solves the riddle of being well-

WORLD'S FAIR IS SPRINGING TO LIFE AGAIN

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid the splashing of paint brushes and the pounding of hammers, the billion-dollar World's Fair is springing to life again after a winter of controversy.

The second and final season begins at 9 a.m. April 21.

The fair's builders and exhibitors are hoping for a surge of visitors many millions greater than during last year's somewhat disappointing attendance.

In the lake amusement area, financially hard hit the first season, cheaper, carnival-type attractions, such as skill games, will be added. One operator plans to open nine low-price kiddie rides.

RUMOR DANCING GIRLS

And there have been reports—unconfirmed by fair officials—that dancing girls are being considered to enliven night-time attendance.

A tremendous effort has been put forth in recent weeks to establish new exhibits, refurbish the old and to give the show an all-out promotion around the world.

Fair officials say new exhibits will total about $5 million, while another $2 million has been spent in reworking.

SOME SIGNS NOT ROSY

Exhibitors joined together in a mammoth publicity campaign.

The hope is to boost 1965 paid attendance to at least 37.5 million, as compared with last year's 27.1 million. Original estimates were for 40 million the first season and 30 million the second.

There are some indications that all may not be so rosy. With the opening only a month

Says U. S. Is Very Much In Moon Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says the United States is very much in the moon race.

Appearing Sunday on the CBS radio and television program "Face the Nation," Webb wouldn't predict that the United States is very much in the man on the moon.

He was optimistic, saying this country possesses the world's most powerful known rocket in the Saturn 5. He said the space program has been improved by billions of dollars of new equipment and bolder and bolder decisions.

away, the city's hotel association says advance reservations by individuals and families is running as much as 40 per cent behind last year in some cases.

5 BANKERS QUIT

There is disagreement as to whether the winter's controversies over the fair's finances and management tended to discourage attendance by people planning their first visit.

The wrangling during the winter had little to do with the content of the fair. It stemmed largely from the fact that receipts weren't as high as expected.

Five leading bankers quit the finance committee and there were demands for the replacement of Robert Moses, fair president, a master builder of state public works but also a man given to getting into controversy. In the end, his critics didn't have the power to oust him.

While the fair corporation is $17.5 million in the hole, Moses has stated without equivocation that it will wind up making a profit though a smaller one than anticipated.

Cheese, Dairy Products Are Important To Lenten Meals

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Entertaining Home Economist

Make cheese and other dairy products an important part of your family meals, during the Lenten season and all through the year.

Whether served at breakfast, lunch, dinner, or between meals, all cheeses, made from whole or skim milk provide high-quality protein, which makes cheese a good meat alternate.

Lasagna is an excellent main dish. Mozzarella, Parmesan, and Ricotta cheeses give lasagna its characteristic bubblyness and goodness. The American version often substitutes cottage cheese for Ricotta, and this makes a delicious main dish.

At another meal, serve cheese sauce on a vegetable, such as broccoli. Besides making the vegetable more tasty, the cheese sauce adds protein to your meal.

CHEESE IN SALAD

Use cheese as part of a salad. You may use cottage cheese as a salad ingredient or in the salad dressing for a mixed vegetable salad. Cubes of American or Cheddar cheese are also good on a tossed salad, and will add protein to a meal when the main dish is low in this nutrient.

An easy-to-prepare dessert that is a fitting climax to many meals is cheese and fruit. You may serve a cheese and fruit dessert that features just one or two kinds of cheese or you may serve a cheese tray that allows each person to select the cheese he prefers.

DUST CATCHERS

Your attic and basement may yield long-forgotten treasures that could add new interest to your home. A lovely old stoneware piece of pottery or an earthenware crock can make a handsome container for a plant or an arrangement of winter forced forsythia.

A well-worn wooden spoon can resume its usefulness in your kitchen. Instead of storing it in a drawer, hang the spoon on the kitchen wall so you can enjoy its shape and the color it has absorbed from stirring apple butter or corn meal mush in the past. Old wooden butter paddles and scoops are still usable and attractive to hang on the kitchen wall handy for use.

WOODEN DECOR

Your husband may still have an old wooden duck decoy. Clean and refinish this collector's item and place it in the family den or office as a piece of sculpture. Do not destroy the decoy's value or beauty by making it into a lamp base.

An old coffee grinder cleaned and refinished can be put into active use in your kitchen. Place it on an open shelf handy for use and for the family to enjoy its shape. Whenever you wish, surprise your family with coffee made from freshly ground coffee beans.

When discovered and allowed to regain their original use, many other items can become functional and attractive accessories.

FAMILY DEMOCRACY

Practicing democratic living in the home is one answer to family growth together. Also, it aids family members in following a path that is more meaningful to everyone.

A democratic family living plan bases itself on belief in each person's worth, dignity, integrity, and creative ability. It's also based on each person's willingness to cooperate with other family members.

may not be the quickest way to get things done. It calls for time and patience and the willingness to give and take, but it results in better cooperation, more satisfaction, and growth for everyone.

To help build family democracy in decision making, begin with simple problems and make one decision at a time. Try to have fun in the process of doing. Be aware of people's feelings, but avoid meaningless arguments. Remember that everyone has good ideas. Another guide is not to take yourselves too seriously.

NESTED EGGS

Planning an Easter brunch? Serve eggs in nests.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Season with salt and pepper. Drop from a teaspoon—just as you would meringue—on a greased baking sheet. Indent the center of each dab of egg white and slip a yolk into the nest. Cover generously with crispy bacon crumbles.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the yolks are set.

Seek 'Bald Man' In Rape Of Child

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Police were looking for a man described as "bald-headed" in connection with the abduction and rape of an 11-year-old Amish girl.

The girl, whose name was withheld, was abducted Monday by a man who stopped her on her way home from school at nearby Kirkwood, police said. The girl was taken to West Grove Hospital in Chester County for surgery.

A farmer, Harry F. Shanck of Quarryville, Route 2, found the girl, wandering in shock, on a road near his home.

NEW CHARACTER

Viewers yearning for a preview of next season's television offerings should look at the April 21 episode of "Burke's Law" on ABC. The show will introduce a character named Honey West, played by Anne Francis, a beautiful private investigator who also knows karate.

The character will spin off next season in a half-hour series of her own called "Honey West."

HOPE TO TRACE ORIGIN OF SIX LETHAL BOMBS

By JOE ZELLNER

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Authorities hoped today that special laboratory reports from Washington would provide a lead in an intensive probe of the potent dynamite bombs that didn't go off.

Officials in this Southern steel city which has a long history of bombings put every available officer on the all-out probe of the six deadly homemade bombs found in predominantly Negro neighborhoods since Sunday morning.

Several of the bombs were sent to Washington for examination at FBI laboratories. Capt. Frank House, in charge of the officers assigned fulltime to the investigation, said preliminary reports were expected from Washington sometime today.

INTERVIEW NEIGHBORS

House said several officers were conducting door-to-door interviews with residents within two blocks in each direction from the locations where bombs were found.

All six bombs were found in a four-mile radius of northwest Birmingham where four Negro girls died in a blast at the 16th Street Baptist Church Sept. 15, 1956.

There have been more than 40 racial bombings in Birmingham since World War II — and no convictions.

Complicating officers' efforts Monday were bomb threats at four high schools. Searches turned up nothing. In addition, an explosion at nearby Bessemer, the scene of recent labor friction, ripped away the base of a utility pole near a clay products plant Monday night.

STATE OFFERS REWARD

Sheriff Mel Bailey said there was no indication that the Bessemer explosion had any connection with the bombs in Birmingham.

A reward fund started on a $1,000 donation by Gov. George C. Wallace — the maximum the state can provide under law — rose to $3,000 with another $1,000 contribution from Birmingham's two newspapers, the News and Post-Herald, and a like amount from the Downtown Action Committee, a citizens group.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said police have no suspects. "Everybody on the force is working on it," he said.

FORMER MAYOR FOUND GUILTY

READING, Pa. (AP) — Former Reading Mayor John C. Kubacki and two convicted gamblers have been found guilty of extortion and conspiracy in a case involving the operator of a bawdy house.

Kubacki, Abe Minker and Benny Bonanno were convicted Monday by a Berks County court jury of six men and six women, which took just one hour to deliberate.

Judge Warren K. Hess gave the three 15 days to appeal the conviction.

The trio was accused of extortion in connection with Mrs. Angeline Wilkerson of Reading, who had been convicted of operating a bawdy house.

Kubacki, Democratic mayor from 1960 to 1964, and Minker were previously convicted in another extortion case involving the sale of parking meters to the city.

Kubacki is presently out on bail and Minker is serving a sentence on a federal gambling charge.

WEATHER GOOD FOR MOUNTAIN CLIMB BY RFK

By DALE NELSON

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP) — Cheered by forecasts of continued good weather, the Mt. Kennedy climbing party faced today the first step in the ascent of the 13,900-foot mountain, highest unclimbed peak in North America.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and the other expedition members spent the night at a base camp on Hynniss Port Glacier, which they named after Kennedy's arrival Monday afternoon. The Kennedy family has a home at Hynniss Port, Mass.

The climbers plan to reach a second base camp and spend the night after their first day up the mountain, named by the Canadian government for the senator's slain brother, President John F. Kennedy.

SUN WAS SHINING

The sun was shining brightly as the party flew to the camp from Whitehorse in a Royal Canadian Air Force rescue helicopter. The forecaster at the Canadian Department of Transport's weather office summed up the weather thus: "They hit it pretty lucky."

The weather office said the wind is not expected to exceed 20-30 miles an hour, and the temperature should not be below zero.

James W. Whittaker of Seattle, Wash., leader of the expedition, and the first American to scale Mt. Everest, had predicted they might encounter fierce wind and temperature of around 40 below zero.

SEE NO STORMS

The weather office said an arctic front retreating northward might produce low clouds and snow flurries, but no serious storms were in prospect.

Whittaker has said the party could be back in two or three days if the weather is good.

GOP TOO LATE ON HEALTH BILL

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., says he doesn't believe Republicans in Congress will have much influence on legislation being considered to provide health care for the elderly.

Addressing a public forum program of the Greater Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce, Schweiker said Monday night there were not enough Republicans in Congress to shape the legislation. The Montgomery County congressman sponsored one of the health care bills now before the House Ways and Means Committee, but he gave it little chance at passage.

"We are too late," he said. "Two years ago it might have been possible for Republicans to have written a good bill with the help of Southern Democratic congressmen. Now if all Republican congressmen could agree on one plan and if we could get the votes of half the Southern Democratic congressmen, and both of these are unlikely, we would still be 20 votes short of passage."

Wives Of 2 Astronauts Suffer In Silent Agony During 2-Man Space Trip

By ROBERT HEARD
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two wives faced hours of silent agony today while the world — watching just outside their window sills — helps them sweat out America's first two-man space flight.

The clutching fear any woman would feel in such circumstances must go unvoiced by Betty Grissom and Barbara Young because their children have a day off from school.

Photographers, reporters and radio and television crews converged on the neighborhood of Timber Cove, a residential area studded with oak and pine trees near the Manned Spacecraft Center.

LIVE NEARBY

Behind the orange door of a white brick home live the wife and children of Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom.

Behind another door not far away live the wife and children of Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young.

An MSC spokesman predicted that they would be the first astronauts' families to come out of seclusion and follow a flight from a scientific center.

It is only a three-mile drive to the new $110-million Mission Control Center.

Mrs. Young's children, Sandra, 7, and John Jr., 6, are too young to comprehend fully the Gemini project which has kept their father away from home for all but 10 days in the last 10 months.

Mrs. Grissom's children, Scott, 14, and Mark, 11, think a lot of dad, but their hero is said to be race car driver A. J. Foyt of Houston.

Mrs. Grissom saved hundreds of trading stamps for pasting into books today.

Mrs. Young had not disclosed

what she would do to make the time pass.

Mrs. Grissom is a brown-haired, soft-spoken daughter of Claude Moore of Mitchell, Ind. She had her first date with Grissom when she was 14.

Mrs. Young is slightly freckled and has an enthusiastic smile. She is the former Barbara White of Savannah, Ga. Her husband has described her as "a good Navy wife."

She is a biking fan, as are the other members of the family. They have four bicycles.

Court Denies Move To Drop Clients

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman has denied, without comment, the motion of two lawyers to withdraw as defense counsel for two brothers accused of mail fraud in the promotion of krebiozen.

The controversial drug is taken by some cancer patients.

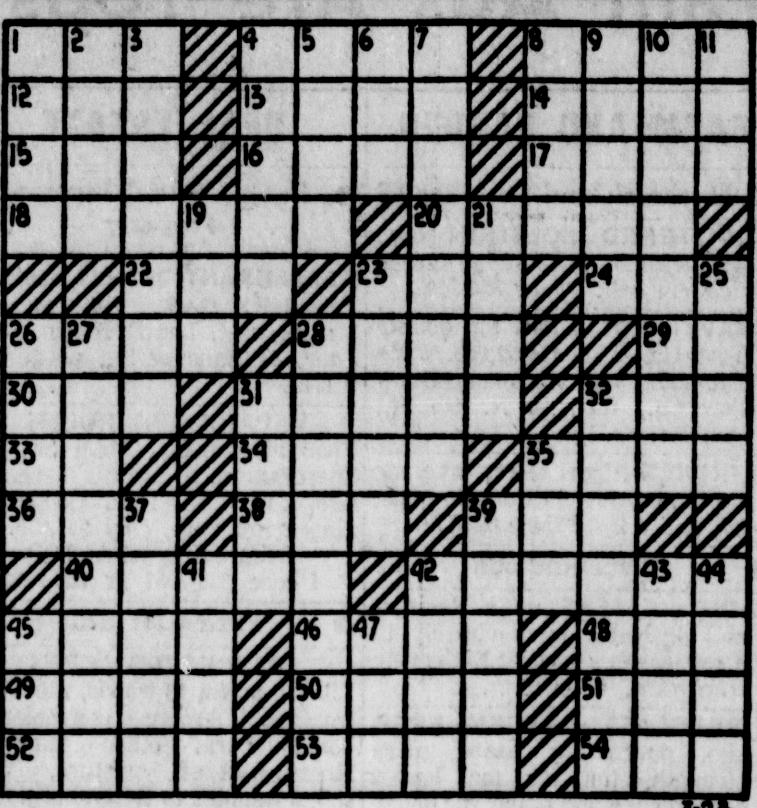

Milton A. Bass and Solomon H. Briend, of New York, had asked for permission to withdraw because of what they said was an incompatible attorney-client relationship.

They were defending Dr. Steven Durovic, 59, discoverer of Krebiozen and his brother, Marko, 64, a lawyer.

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill aimed at allowing third to eighth class counties to allocate funds in support of the state's Project 70 program is in position for a final vote next week in the House.

The House Committee on Counties sent the bill to the floor Monday without amendment, starting the measure rolling.

Find Miner's Body Beneath Debris

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP) — The body of a miner was found early today deep in a coal mine inside a Central Pennsylvania mountain, ending an around-the-clock rescue effort since last Saturday.

Rescue crews, working in six-hour shifts without pause since two miners were trapped by falling debris Saturday morning, pulled to the surface from the bottom of a 30-foot sump the body of Anthony Rompolski, about 38, of Mount Carmel.

The accident killed the other miner, Michael Keninitz, 73, of Kulpmont, Pa.

Some 75 rescue workers began digging into a gangway filled with mud, water and debris Monday. Officials were still trying to determine what caused the tons of muck and debris to pour into the mine.

CIVIL RIGHTS CASES MOVED

MOSS POINT, Miss. (AP) — The cases of 26 civil rights demonstrators, including students from Bryn Mawr College and Pennsylvania State University, have been transferred to federal district court in Biloxi.

The three white persons and 23 Negroes, arrested for holding a protest at a Negro high school on March 10, had been set for hearing in Moss Point Monday. All have been free on bonds of $750 since March 15.

Some were charged with refusal to obey police orders and some with resisting arrest and trespassing.

The three white persons are Mary Larson, 22, of Hartford, Conn., Nancy Sours, 21, a Bryn Mawr student from Oakton, Va., and Paul Shanahan, a Penn State sophomore from Wilmington, Del.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The state resumes today an investigation of illegal rebates in the milk industry.

Simon K. Uhl, a former Milk Control Commission chairman, said Monday that he was served a subpoena at his Somerset law office ordering him to appear at the hearing here.

It was expected that Uhl will be asked to explain charges made by earlier witnesses that he and other former commission officials knew of rebate practices but failed to act.

employed in the mental health institutions, the governor said.

"This is the most important step forward for mental health personnel in state employment in decades," Scranton said.

In addition, he said, the administration is recommending that the legislature appropriate adequate funds for the planning staff in the office of the commissioner of mental health.

"In this year's budget we have requested an additional $4.5 million to raise salaries in the mental health institutions. This is the largest such increase ever requested," the governor said.

Boy With Matches Set Fatal Blaze

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Daw, 6, admitted he was playing with matches just before the fire in his home Saturday in which his sister and two brothers were killed, acting fire marshal Joseph Doyle says.

Doyle said Monday the boy told the story upon questioning by deputy fire marshal Lt. James Leonard.

He said the boy told them he found a box of matches, struck one and dropped it behind a foam rubber couch on the enclosed front porch of the home.

Heavy smoke came up, followed quickly by flames.

Trapped and killed in the blaze were John's sister, Sandra, 5, and two brothers, Eric, 3, and David, 18 months.

John and his mother, Jean, 27, were rescued. The father, patrolman Frew Daw, was on duty at the time.

SCRANTON IS SPEAKER FOR HEALTH UNIT

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton told some 1,500 persons today the state is experiencing a "renaissance" in treating mental health and mental retardation.

The governor spoke to a meeting on mental health sponsored by the Council for Human Services in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Mental Health Association for Retarded Children.

Scranton in prepared remarks cited what he called "three practical items of major importance" which he said deserved support.

3 MAJOR STEPS

First, he said was the completion of the action outlined in the Civil Service Act of 1963. Through the act, about 21,000 state employees have been added to civil service for the first time. About 11,000 of them are
